City Boils In 90-Degree Heat

Mercury Hits High For Year

Ohio Swelters In Humid Wave

Mansfield and most of Ohio marked up the hottest day of the year yesterday when the mercury topped 90. Mansfield's reading was 91.

It will be hot again tomorrow, the weatherman said, although local thundershowers are expected to bring some relief. Thunderstorms late last night in Mansfield cooled the air a little

Cleveland and Columbus both reported readings of 95, highest on record for June 24, while Chesapeake, the little southern Ohio town which has had the highest readings in the state all week, reported the temperature hit 96.

While the year's hottest temperatures baked Ohioans, some relief was seen likely in areas where showers fell during the night.

Pavements buckled on the hot streets in some cities but the comparatively low humidity lessened the discomfort of the sizzling temperatures

Weather Forecaster Milton Davis at Cleveland said the high temperatures would continue through Sunday and that a moderation is the tentative outlook for Monday.

There is a cool air mass development in the far northwest," he said, "but it's too early to determine its speed of movement in this direction or to judge what other modifications may occur before it reaches the Ohio area."

A week end of hot, humid weather appeared in prospect for the dry-stricken North Atlantic coastal area.

No rain was forecast for the drought area in the northeastern states where crops have suffered heavy damage because of lack of substantial rainfall in the last month.

The continued hot, sunny weather over wide areas of New England, New Jersey and New York has created fire hazards in wooded areas. Acute water shortages have been reported in many communities.

Rhode Island has joined with other New England states in closing woodlands as a precaution against fires.

3 Elections Scheduled

(By Associated Press)

Three nations — Canada, Belgium and Syria — are charting their future courses in elections this week end.

Canadians will decide by ballot Monday which party they think will better advance the prosperity of Canada's 13,000,000 citizens. They have the choice of reelecting the liberal administration of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent or turning to other parties.

Chief and traditional political foe of the Liberals is the Progressive Conservative party led by the former premier of Ontario, George Drew.

There is a royal issue in Belgium. The nation's largest party — the Social Christian— is supporting a proposal that former King Leopold III be put back on the throne. He now is in exile in Switzerland.

Many Belgians resent the fact that Leopold surrendered his country to the nazis instead of fleeing to set up a government to fight in exile as did Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and other rulers.

Syria is holding a rubber stamp election today — there is only one residential candidate on the ballot. He is Col. Husni Zayim, military governor of the country since he ousted the previous regime last March. Besides approving Zayim as president, the people are asked to vote on whether they want free elections held regularly and a new constitution.

REPORT ON BIG CROP

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio's 1949 spring pig crop totaled 3,203,000 head, the federal-state crop reporting service announced today.

Police Capture 'Lothario'

(Compiled from wire dispatches)

CHICAGO — White-haired Sigmund Engel, suave "love pirate" accused of swindling more than 50 women of an estimated $1,000,000, gabbled happily today about his exploits, told the secrets of his success—and tried to date a girl reporter who talked to him in jail.

Engel, a former vaudevillian who claims to be 80 years as against the 73 years the police allow him, was arrested in Chicago late yesterday as he was shopping for "honeymoon" luggage for another woman—or, as police put it, another "victim."

He is held on confidence charges—charges Engel made plain he regards as without foundation.

"Surely," he said, "they can't punish me for merely enjoying lovely women. Isn't that every man's right?"

Engel blamed his career on what he called "womanmania." He defined the word for newsmen as follows:

"Women are my career. I love women. It's somewhat similar to kleptomania. I call it womanmania."

His admitted victim, attractive 39-year-old red-haired Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, with whom he posed as a successful Hollywood producer during their whirlwind courtship, was not so understanding. She said she intended to prosecute, adding:

"He shouldn't go on doing that sort of thing."

Mrs. Corrigan's identification of him was turbulent.

"You thing, you!" she screamed. "You thing! You thing, you t-h-i-n-g!" Police restrained her from scratching out his eyes.

Engel replied unperturbed:

"You, madam, are a nothing, absolutely nothing."

The true Lothario, Engel insists, has no age preference in his women. Says the master:

"The age of a woman doesn't mean a thing After all, the best tunes are played on the oldest fiddles."

Greeks Form New Cabinet

ATHENS, GREECE — (UP) — Vice Premier Constantin Tsaldaris had the King's mandate today to form a new government to succeed that of the late premier Themistocles Sophoulis.

King Paul authorized Tsaldaris to set up a new cabinet late last night a few hours after Sophoulis' sudden death.

Tsaldaris was foreign minister as well as vice-premier in Sophoulis' government and heads the traditionally Royalist and conservative Populist party. He has been premier twice before, in 1946 and early 1947.

Sophoulis' body was to be taken today to the state cathedral, where funeral services will be held tomorrow. King Paul has decreed five days of national mourning, ending at sunset Tuesday.

Reds Use Seal Of Archbishop

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — (UP)—Agents of Czechoslovakia's communist government are sending out mail from Archbishop Josef Beran's office under his seal despite the fact he has ordered the office closed.

The office was humming with activity when foreign newsmen visited Archbishop Beran's palace yesterday for the first time since government agents took over control of the building June 15.

The newsmen watched four men and a girl in the archbishop's office or consistory filling and stamping envelopes. The Catholic prelate's seal could be seen on each mimeographed letter inserted in an envelope.

Educators To Meet

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Some 500 Ohio school administrators will meet at Ohio State university July 6-7 to talk over problems of leadership in educational program building.

Miss Haynes Dies At 85

Taught In City Schools Many Years

Miss Harriet Haynes, 85, one of Mansfield's oldest retired school teachers, died at General hospital Friday afternoon, following a lingering illness. Miss Haynes had been a patient at General hospital for more than three years.

Thousands of Mansfielders remember Miss Haynes as the teacher who gave them an early start in learning their three "R's". A teacher in the public school system, she taught the second grade at West Fifth street school for many years before retiring.

Miss Haynes was born in Mansfield March 12, 1864, the daughter of Kingsbury and Virginia Coates Haynes. She lived here all her life She was a member of the First Methodist church.

Her only survivors are distant cousins and friends.

Rev. C. W. Stoneburner, pastor of the First Methodist church, will conduct funeral services at the Finefrock funeral home at 1:30 p. m. Monday. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

It was Miss Haynes' request that flowers be omitted.

Girl, 21, Is Polio Victim

Richland county's first polio victim of the year was reported today by the Mansfield-Richland county board of health.

She is Miss Eleanor Witzky, 21, of Lexington, R. D. 1.

The patient will be taken to Children's hospital, Columbus. Health Commissioner Harry Wain said.

The first polio case in Richland county last year was reported on July 1. Dr Wain said.

He declared the fact the one case was reported a few weeks earlier this year, is of "no particular significance."

Seek 'Fat' Bandit

DAYTON — (INS) — Two bandits, one described as a 50-year-old fat man, were sought by police today after robbing a Dayton cafe of $1,000 to $2,000.

Weatherman Is Kind This Time

1,500 Masons Play, Dine At Outing

Nearly 1,500 Mansfield Masons and their guests renewed fraternal friendships and dined on picnic fare yesterday at their 38th annual outing at South park.

The weatherman was kind this time, too. It didn't rain. The Masons have been chased under cover by showers during most of their recent picnics.

The parties are sponsored by the Mansfield Mystic club which is made up of the three Blue lodges.

Card playing by older members in the early afternoon opened the festivities. Later the men played horseshoes and softball.

A cafeteria-style lunch was served in the park pavilion. There were three lunch lines into the pavilion with service provided at the three table counters manned by members of the three Blue lodges.

"This is the first Mansfield Masonic picnic we ever held where potato salad wasn't served," said A F. Porter, secretary of the Mystic club and a Mason for 43 years. "It was the easiest one to handle, too, as fussing and fuming were eliminated by serving warm food. The men got potatoes, served hot as scalloped potatoes. We also served warm baked beans."

"I remember the first picnic we had, back in 1911, at Savannah Lake," Porter continued. "The food was prepared a day ahead and covered food wagons left Mansfield at 3 a. m All lemons used in making lemonade were squeezed by hand. The picnic, served at noon, attracted nearly 700 people."

FOOD RUNS LOW

Officials became worried about the food supply yesterday when it ran low as the lines thinned. It proved adequate, but no second helpings were available.

The club served 350 pounds of potatoes 150 pounds of baked ham, 135 pounds of cheese, 20 gallons of cottage cheese, 50 dozen buns, 60 loaves of rye bread, 200 pounds marrowfat beans, eight gallons of sliced dill pickles, 24 bottles of mustard, four cases of catsup, 70 cases of soft drinks and 600 bottles of chocolate milk.

The Mansfield Masonic band directed by Oscar Fensch and managed by William W. Mosey, provided music during the evening.

Officers of the Mystic club, who were in charge of the annual picnic, were Homer L. Dent, R. N. Campbell and D. C. Cole of Mansfield Lodge No. 35; E. W. Deitrick, Ralph Damlos and Albert H. Benson of Venus Lodge No. 152, and W. Russell McCullough, Albert J. Barker and Cyril F. Hartman of Frank H. Marquis Lodge No. 690.

Auto Crash Kills Girl

ASHLAND — Miss Dorothy Joan Simpson, 19, of Akron, R. D. 1, died in Samaritan hospital here at 10:15 a. m. today of injuries suffered at 8:55 a. m. when the car she was driving skidded and overturned. The accident occurred on U. S. Route 42 three and a half miles northeast of here.

Ralph Rogers, Ashland county deputy sheriff, said the victim was driving a car owned by her sister, Mrs. Jean Elliott, of Akron. R. D. 1, who was a passenger.

Miss Simpson lost control and the car dropped over the berm, skidded and turned over, the officer said. The victim never regained consciousness Mrs. Elliott was uninjured.

The sisters were en route to Delaware to visit their mother. The body is at the hospital pending arrangements. Miss Simpson suffered a basal skull fracture and lacerations of the head and face.

Secret Service Orders 'Money' Destroyed

Uncle Sam Frowns On 'Phony Bucks'

Those "phony Co-op bucks" which have been widely distributed in Mansfield and Richland county, have struck a snag.

The "bogus money" has been printed on about the same size paper as real money and, according to J. A. Burkhart, Richland County Farm Bureau manager, constitutes a sufficient likeness to real money to bring some reaction from the U. S. Secret Service.

The "tax-free co-op buck" campaign, sponsored by the National Tax Equality association, is aimed at Farm Bureau co-operatives. The "phony bucks" bear this short poem: "Roses are red, violets are blue, co-ops dodge taxes, why can't you."

The U. S. district attorney in Chicago said the NTEA could continue printing the "bogus bills" if it desires, but the "bucks" must look less like real money.

The NTEA voluntarily surrendered stocks of the "money" and the engraving plates to the government agency, news dispatches from Chicago said

"The NTEA has been spearheading an extensive drive throughout the country to create the impression that co-operatives do not pay taxes," said Burkhart.

Burkhart denied that the farm co-ops were evading any taxes. "Co-ops do not pay income taxes because they do not make any profit," Burkhart said. "The farmers who receive patronage dividends from their cooperatives are required to pay income tax on the patronage they receive."

Klansman Offers FBI Aid

Ohioan, Green Hold Meeting

ATLANTA — (UP) — The grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan and an Ohio man, unable to get together, today offered separate evidence on terrorism to the FBI.

Joseph Goldwasser said he would take the FBI a scrawled note warning "all Catholics, Jews and Negroes" of flogging if they come into this area. Dr. Samuel Green, head of the Klan, said he would help the FBI catch those men responsible for recent mob acts in Alabama.

"We want these renegades run down and if we can help the FBI do it, we will do it," Green said at a meeting with Goldwasser. The Clevelander, a representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people, called on Green at his office here

Nine reporters were present, and Green had a wire recorder running. He barred from the session two reporters for the Atlanta Daily World, a Negro publication. He rejected Goldwasser's informal application for Klan membership, and disagreed with him on numerous points.

FOUNDED ON 'LOVE'

"The Klan helps Jews and Negroes who stay in their place," Green told him "When the newspapers say we are a hate organization, they lie. The Klan is founded on love, not hate."

When Goldwasser exhibited the note he had received, bearing a sticker showing a robed and mounted Klansman, Green called it the work of "some darn idiotic nut" and advised throwing it away. But Goldwasser said he would take it to the FBI.

The grand dragon said he was just as concerned as anyone over the outbreak of violence in the Birmingham area, but said Attorney General Tom Clark's inference that Klansmen might be responsible was "an unmitigated lie."

He had previously blamed a Klan offshoot for the Birmingham incidents, and said he had sent an investigator into the area because the Klan had to protect its name.

2 Children Abandoned

SYRACUSE, N Y. —(UP)— An ex-GI who left his two tiny children alone on an island in the Seneca river was found today at the home of his father and the sheriff's office sent deputies to take him into custody.

Donald Frazier of Port Jervis, was the object of a widespread search after the children, aged five and three, were rescued last night by a fishing party from the mile-long island where they had been left alone since Thursday.

Hungry, exhausted and insect-bitten, the tots were rescued by Keith Wickes who was fishing with his wife and family near the island.

Wickes said the children, who identified themselves as "Peggy" and "Brother", were famished.

He said the children apparently had not eaten anything except scraps since Thursday.

"The odor in the shack was terrible," he said. "There was a snapping turtle with the head and legs chopped off, and uncooked and beheaded sunfish and three potatoes boiled in their skins.

"There also was what looked like a wild duck. Two or three days old and partly cooked" Wickes said. "The smell in the cabin made me stumble back from the door."

Transit Workers Win 9-Cent Boost

CLEVELAND — (AP) — A wage increase of nine cents an hour and several benefits in working conditions will be the basis of a new contract between the Cleveland Transit system and its operators.

The recommenations were submitted by transit umpire David Ralph Hertz yesterday and will be effective July 1. Spokesmen for the CTS and the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach employes said they would abide by the decision in accordance with their agreement to submit disputed contract issues to an umpire.

Khan Orders Runabout For Riviera

ALGONAC, Mich. —(U.P.)— A sleek 19-foot runabout speedboat has been ordered by Aga Khan III, spiritual leader of millions of Mohammedans and father-in-law of Rita Hayworth, the Chris Craft corporation announced here today.

Kenneth G. Atkinson, export manager said the boat has a top speed of 44 MPH., a 158 horsepower engine, and is painted red, white and blue. He said no deluxe equipment had been put on the boat. It is a standard model.

The boat will probably be used at the Riviera and Cannes, French resort areas, Atkinson said.

4 Injured In Crash of Cars, Wagon

Woman Seriously Hurt Near Lucas

Four persons were injured, one seriously, in an accident involving a hay wagon and two cars late yesterday near Lucas.

State Highway patrolmen said a car driven by Miss Ann Stevens, 21, Berea, Ky., struck the hay wagon and then collided head-on with another car. The accident occurred at 7 p. m. on State Route 39 one and half miles southeast of Lucas.

Miss Stevens suffered a skull fracture, deep lacerations of the face and arms and leg injuries. She was reported in fair condition today in General hospital.

Others less seriously injured were: Walter Stovall, 45, of Atlanta, Ga., who was riding with Miss Stevens; Wallace Denapie, 24, of Glenmont, driver of the second car, and Charles Doane, 20, also of Glenmont.

Stovall suffered fractured ribs and lacerations of the face, while Doane had contusions and lacerations of the face and head. Both are in General hospital where their conditions were termed good. The fourth motorist, Denapie, suffered abrasions of the chin and possible rib fractures, but he was released from the hospital after treatment.

Patrolman said the accident occurred when the car driven by Miss Stevens attempted to pass the hay wagon. In attempting to cut back and avoid collision with an oncoming car, driven by Denapie, Miss Stevens struck the rear of the hay rack and the car was thrown into the path of the oncoming vehicle.

David Culler, Lucas R. D. 1, was driving the tractor pulling the hay wagon, escaped injury, as did two other men riding with him. They were Homer Shafer and Jerry Niswander, also of Lucas R. D. 1

Finds $1,520 Buried In Jar In Coal Pile

HILLSBORO — (AP) — A glass jar under a coal pile at an old age pensioners home has yielded $1,520 in $20 bills.

The money was found yesterday by a man who had purchased the coal from the trustees of Salem township

The trustees removed Mrs Ellen Warlaumont, 75, from her two room shanty to the Highland county home several days ago They decided to sell the coal piled against her dwelling to Raymond Griffity.

When he began hauling coal away, Griffity found the glass jar in an old coffee can The money was packed in cigarette bags.

He took the money to the Merchants National bank and when Mrs Madge Troth, local manager of the Ohio Division of Aid for the Aged, learned of the find she ordered that the money be held pending instructions from her Columbus office.

Mrs. Warlaumont had been receiving old age benefits "for some time," Mrs. Troth said

She added that when Mrs. Warlaumont was taken from her home she had remarked: "There's money around the house, but you'll never find it."

Phone Rate Boost Decision Due Soon

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The State Utilities commission today studied lengthy testimony on Ohio Consolidated Telephone company's request for higher rates.

Its two day hearing of the case ended yesterday, but a decision is not expected for about two weeks. Attorneys for the company and those who oppose the rate boosts still are to file briefs.

Seeks To Kill Coal Combine

Miners Start On Vacation

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. —(UP)— John L. Lewis today launched an all-out attack against the Southern Coal Producers association as contract negotiations neared the crucial stage.

In an effort to kill the association and to thwart its drive for a separate contract with the United Mine Workers, Lewis is trying to convince individual southern operators they should desert the association and join the parleys here.

In his fight, he has the aid of the northern and western coal producers, some southern operators and the 10 steel companies which operate the captive mines.

Spokesmen for these operators said they will never permit Lewis to grant the Southern association special benefits in a separate contract.

Lewis is negotiating with these operators here in an effort to obtain a contract to replace the one expiring next Thursday. He told them yesterday the new agreement must contain improvements in wages, hours, working conditions, and employer contributions to the welfare fund.

MINES LAY IDLE

Coal mines in 26 states lay idle, meanwhile, as miners began their annual 10-day vacation. They are scheduled to return to work July 5, but the chances are they won't, unless the producers reach some sort of an agreement with Lewis.

Lewis long since declared war on the Southern association. He has charged that it is nothing more than a "holding company" that stands between his union and the operating coal companies.

The association and the United Mine Workers have been trying to negotiate a separate agreement at Bluefield, W. Va., since early this month. But so far little, if any progress has been made.

The hearings here are in recess until Thursday. The intervening four days will be crucial ones for Lewis' efforts to wean individual southern companies away from the Bluefield talks.

It was reported that several district associations intend to decide this week-end whether or not they should desert the association and participate in the parleys here.

Flash Flood Fatal To 42

PACHUCA, Mexico — (UP) — At least 42 persons died here last night when a cloudburst, hail storm and flash flood ravaged this centuries-old silver mining town, authorities said today.

Nineteen women, fifteen men and eight children were counted among the victim of the 20-minute-long story.

In addition to the known dead, 40 persons were injured seriously and from 200 to 400 had been reported missing.

Most of the victims died in the crowded Juarez market area. Flood waters battered down one wall of the market and filled it to a depth of about ten feet.

One woman said that, trapped on the street by the furious waters, she wrapped her baby in her rebozo (shawl) and climbed a telephone pole with him. The waters rose so fast, she said, that the baby was torn from her arms before she could reach safety.

Another child was frozen to death under a pile of large hail stones, just out of the sight of his frantic mother who could not force open the ice-jammed door that separated them.

U. N. Committee Flays Bulgaria

ATHENS — (INS) — The United Nations Special Commission on the Balkans charged today that Bulgaria furnished aid "of great quantity and diversity" to the Greek guerrillas.

The commission, which has been prevented from entering the Soviet satellite Balkan states, also claimed Albanian authorities have placed territory at the disposal of the Guerrillas for strategical purposes.

GETS LONG SENTENCE

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Clay Patterson, 27-year-old Ironton war veteran, was sentenced to a one to 20-year term in Ohio penitentiary yesterday for slaying his wife.

Vacation Bible School Ends for 1,500 Children In City

Boys, Girls Receive Diplomas

2-Week Course Closes In Mansfield

For approximately 1,500 Mansfield children, Friday marked the end of school — vacation Bible school this time.

The 1,500 were one of the largest groups ever to attend the annual summer Bible school, sponsored by the Council of Religious Education. This year's program was administered by Mrs. Ralph Dessem, of Findlay.

Although the Bible school is over for another year, all of the participating children have something tangible to show for their two weeks of learning. All of the children in the 22 participating churches and two other churches which conducted their own Bible schools either already have received certificates or diplomas or will receive them tomorrow night.

Diplomas were awarded to 52 students at Recognition Night services held at the Holy Trinity church, one of the two which conducted its own school, Thursday night.

The program for parents and friends included a display of workbooks and handicraft by the students and the showing of a film, "Answer for Anne." William O. Knarr was the committee director of the school.

CLOSED FRIDAY

Friday evening marked the close of the daily vacation Bible school at the Church of God. Diplomas were awarded after a program of singing, marching, and recitations. The Bible school had an average daily attendance of 50.

Bible school students at the First Brethren church received their certificates during the closing program Friday morning.

Students at the Mansfield Church of the Brethren and the Main Street Evangelical United Brethren church will receive their certificates tomorrow evening.

At other participating churches certificates already have been awarded or will be awarded Sunday evening.

Children, from four to 12 have participated in the Bible schools which held their opening sessions June 13. Work at the schools included the teaching of Bible fundamentals, handicraft, and group coordination.

Approximately 150 teachers assisted Mrs. Dessem in the Bible school program. Arrangements for the school were made by Mrs. H. E. Neese, chairman of the steering committee of the Council of Religious Education.

BIBLE SCHOOL PROGRAM—Members of the junior department of St. John's Bible school were hosts to the junior department of the Shiloh Baptish church at a Bible school program held at St. John's this week. From left to right, in the front row, are Charles Divelbiss, 11, of Lexington, R. D. 1; Karen Merschdorf, 9, of 518 Cline avenue; and Judy Brock, 10, of 507 Cline avenue. Standing behind them are some of the other children who participated in the "International Holiday" program, dressed in costumes of other countries. Mrs. E. Jackson Osborne, supervisor of St. John's Bible school, planned the program.

RECEIVE CERTIFICATES — Miss Wanda Beal, teacher of the primary class of the Vacation Bible school at the First Brethren church, hands a Bible school certificate to Carol Barett, as Doris Brincey, Russell Brincey, Kenneth Cole, and Darlene Davis look on. Children who attended Bible school at the church received their certificates in a special program held during the closing session Friday morning.

Asks Postal Rate Boost

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Truman asked Congress Friday to boost postal rates to bring them "in line with the increased cost of postal operations."

Mr. Truman sent a special message to Congress calling for reorganization of the postal department along lines recommended by the Hoover commission on government reorganization.

Among a number of technical proposals for reorganizing the post office department, the President placed emphasis on an upward revision of postal rates. He said:

"The postal deficit for the fiscal year 1950, on the basis of current postal rates, would be more than 400 million dollars. This deficit results primarily from the volume of postal business which is carried below postal costs.

"If the postal service is to be conducted on a business like basis, it is essential that the postal rates be brought in line with the increased costs of postal operation."

Mourners' Chairs Empty At Yarbo Funeral In Arlington

LONG ISLAND NATIONAL CEMETERY, N.Y. — (UP) — Sgt. John Ybarbo was buried with full military honors in a cemetery of heroes today at the request of his widow who shot him on Sept. 20 during a "fraulein party" at their home in Fritzlar, Germany.

But the five chairs placed at the graveside for mourners were empty as the three volleys of a firing squad rolled across the serene flat - lands and mingled with the roar of a passing plane.

The services were delayed for 15 minutes for the arrival of Mrs. Wilma Ybarbo, 23, of Malden, Mass., who came here Wednesday to make final arrangements for the burial of her husband.

Apparently she changed her mind about attending for fear of meeting some member of his family. But his parents did not attend either.

Only a few men from the military unit on duty at the cemetery and a half dozen curious visitors in the cemetery stood beside the grave as the Rev. Jacobs St. Clair Bousum, Protestant chaplain, read the routine funeral services.

Mrs. Ybarbo, dark-haired and pretty, was originally sentenced to 20 years by a military court for killing her husband. The sentence was reduced to five years and she was finally freed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay on April 15 after serving 107 days.

Files Action For $50,000

Amos McNaul, of Mansfield, R. D. 2 filed a personal injury suit for $50,000 today in common pleas court against the Dixie Ohio Express company, of Akron.

McNaul's petition said he suffered permanent injuries when he was struck by a truck belonging to the defendant last Jan. 15. The accident occurred as he was crossing Delaware street, while walking along Main street, in Lexington, McNaul said. He was thrown 18 or 20 feet by the impact, the petition states.

He adds that he spent $731 in hospital expenses and $610 for doctor bills. Attorneys Marriott and Freehafer represent the plaintiff.

Body Found Within 30 Feet of Police

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The body of a 50-year-old man was found 30 feet from the police station in suburban Willoughby yesterday. He had been shot through the head.

The victim was Harry Cameron, a maintenance man for a Willoughby plant. He was divorced, and the father of two children. Acting Police Chief Carmen Marsh said the shooting climaxed an all-night drinking party in Lake county cafes.

Signs War Claim Check

Former Internees Get 25 Millions

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Attorney General Tom Clark has signed a $25,000,000 check to be allotted among American civilians who suffered personal injuries at the hands of the Japanese during world war II.

The money, representing the first payment of war claims to those Americans, was made available from proceeds from the sale and government operation of German and Japanese property seized during the war.

Congress last month authorized the transfer of the alien property proceeds to the war claims commission and federal security administration which will disperse it.

The money will be paid to American Nationals who were interned during the war by the Japanese in the Philippine Islands and on Midway, Wake and Guam Islands.

The department said more money will be made available eventually.

War Story Tops Library Fiction List

Englishman Writes of Normandy Invasion

"From the City, From the Plough," by Alexander Bacon, is one of the new books for adult readers which will be available at the Mansfield Public library Monday. The book, an English novel of World War II, has been compared to "All Quiet On the Western Front," novel of the first World War.

The story is written with a restraint which intensifies the impression of sorrow and pity which dominates the experiences of a battalion of infantry before and during the Normandy invasion.

The battalion trains under a sympathetic colonel who knows only rigorous training can make this ordinary group of men into a fighting unit. The invasion completes the process begun by the training and makes the battalion experienced fighting men.

ELEPHANT WALK, by Digby George Gerathy, tells the story of a tea plantation in Ceylon, and of the men, Tom Carey and his son George, who were its masters. When Tom chose to build his great house directly across the ancient elephant trail, his native servant warned him, "it is not wise to make enemies of the elephant people."

The house was built and for 50 years was a sound symbol of lavish hospitality. The coming of George's wife brought some disturbance to the old way of life, but it was the elephant people who finally brought catastrophe.

TOWER OF TERZEL, by Pierre Van Paassen, presents a drama in which greed, passion, love and hope play major roles. The story revolves about the family of wealthy landowner, Guido Govserts. When Guido marries attractive young Mathilde, he comes into conflict which affects not only the family, but the whole countryside.

Other fiction:

O CARELESS LOVE, by Skidmore; I AM AFRAID, by Lobaugh; DOC DILLAHAY, by Powers.

Non-fiction:

THE CORAL SEA, by Alan Villiers, describes the lands surrounding the Coral sea, the construction of the coral reefs, the bird and animal life, and the peoples of the islands. Much of the book tells of the exploration of the region from earliest times, and a concluding chapter tells how the war came to the Coral sea.

JOBS THAT TAKE YOU PLACES by Joseph Leeming, tells about hundreds of jobs that are being done by Americans in nearly every country of the world, from such distant lands as Afghanistan or Liberia to the much-nearer but almost equally different West Indies.

NAMED A DIPLOMAT—Newly named as minister to Luxembourg, Mrs. Perle Mesta, Washington hostess and heavy Democratic supporter, is the first woman envoy of President Truman's administration. She is shown after announcement of nomination. (International).

Spot Check Tax Returns

'Personal Visits' Being Planned

WASHINGTON—(UP) — Some 150,000 taxpayers will be visited this year by investigators of the Bureau of Internal Revenue who want to "verify" their income tax returns.

These personal visits are a new wrinkle. They are in addition to the bureau's usual practice of looking into the details of about 4,000,000 income tax returns which appear to contain mistakes, intentional or otherwise.

Returns from the 150,000 who will be visited are being selected at random here. From each of the 63 collection districts across the nation, the bureau is picking a representative number of returns by serial numbers. The name of the taxpayer and the amount of his earnings have nothing to do with the selection.

Bureau officials started the system for two reasons:

1. The "verifications" will guide them in making future investigations into particular occupation groups and individuals where unusual discrepancies are discovered this year.

2. It will serve to emphasize to taxpayers that no matter how perfect their return may seem to appear, there still is a chance it will be investigated.

Flays Postal Appointments

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman Friday recommended legislation aimed at removing postmaster appointments from politics.

In a special message to Congress he urged enactment of a law to authorize the postmaster general to appoint all postmasters subject only to provisions of the Civil Service and Classification acts.

This would mean the time-honored custom of the President appointing first, second and third class postmasters — of whom there are some 21,000 — would be abandoned. Senate confirmation of the presidential choices likewise would no longer be a part of the routine.

Angered Woman Stabs Sleeper

CLEVELAND — (INS) — A 25-year-old woman was held by Cleveland police today in connection with the fatal stabbing of a man asleep on the sidewalk at the side of a Cleveland tavern.

The victim was identified as Dave Berry, 57. Police reported the woman stabbed Berry after she became angered when she stumbled over his feet. Berry was pronounced dead on arrival at Charity hospital

Amputees Preparing For Baseball Game

CAPT. BOB ANDERSON isn't worried about his own team.

But he is worried about the caliber of the enemy ball team that will trot into the Polo grounds against his outfit the night of July 26th. And, of course, he's fretting already about the attendance.

"Last year we drew only about 9,000," he said indignantly. "What do they think we play in—wheelchairs? This year we're hoping for 30,000."

The game is one of the most unusual sports events in New York. It'll be the 17th annual baseball contest between amputee war veterans, sponsored by the National Amputation Foundation.

"We're trying to raise $100,000 for an amputee information and research center here," said Anderson. "But the main thing is to get the public out so we can show them an amputee can do anything they can."

Bob, 25, lost his left arm to a German artillery shell in France in 1945. He is shortstop and captain of the arm amputee team. The rival team is made up of leg amputees.

"And are these leg amps getting cocky," he said. "They're going around town laying 2-to-1 bets against us.

"We beat them 4 to 1 last season, but they do have a terrific team this year. It'll be a close game.

"All the players on both teams are vets from the Second World War. The First World War vets are getting paunchy and slowing up. We want to keep the game fast. And these leg amps are really fast, too. They say their pitcher, Bert Shepard, can still run a hundred yards in around 12 seconds."

Shepard, a former big leaguer, is now player - manager with the Waterbury, Conn., Timers in the Colonial league. Several other amputees are semi-pro players.

Like many another amputee young Anderson is angry at what he believes is senseless job discrimination against men who have lost arms or legs in war or industrial accident.

"It's harder for everybody to get a job today—and that doesn't make it any easier for the amps, he said. "Employers take an application from an amp and say, 'we'll let you know.' But usually they don't. When they see he has a physical disability, they forget him quick."

It isn't a personal problem with Bob. When he was discharged from the army, he wanted to go into the trucking business. But because he had no experience the banks refused to lend him the necessary capital.

Bob started a small retail egg route and saved enough to buy a truck. Now he has four trucks, four employes and a $12,000 a year income.

"Most people think it's a disadvantage to lose an arm," he said. "I think it's an asset. It teaches you to use your head instead of your brawn. And I don't regret a minute I spent in the army. It made me grow up fast.

"I can do as much work as any man still — load and unload 1,200 cases in a day. But little by little I'm getting away from the hard work. I'm getting to be a white collar truckman."

Anderson has a goal beyond his trucking business. He wants to build up enough capital to help other amputees utilize their courage and resourcefulness.

"I'd like to start them in small businesses on a share-alike basis," he grinned.

"Of course, it's just a dream now—but I don't know of any safer way to invest money than by backing a guy who won't let a handicap stop him."

Walter White

Movie Bares Story Of Race Relations

If you read Lost Boundaries either in book form or the Reader's Digest. I am sure you were deeply moved by that true story of a Negro doctor and his family who had to choose between "passing" as white to get an internship or being denied that privilege.

Now under the very skilled direction of Louis de Rochemont the story has been transformed into a film.

I think it is safe to guarantee that you will be moved even more by the movie than by the book—which in no wise is to be construed as disparagement of William L. White's writing ability.

There are moments in the story which are so poignant as to be almost too heart-breaking to bear. One of them is when his neighbors, whose confidence and love he has won, gather in great pride at the doctor's home to present him with a wrist watch and to bid him farewell as he goes off to serve his country in the United States Navy.

He and his wife have just learned that he is not to be permitted to serve--dire though the need of the Navy for doctors in war time happens to be--because of the accidental discovery that he possesses a few drops of "Negro" blood.

Their handsome and musically gifted young son, home from college after enlisting as a seaman, had been told the news and had burst into furious denunciation of his mother and father for their "deception". If you can sit dry-eyed through this episode, you are a better man than I am.

Scene after scene of quiet and moving dignity and tragedy fill the picture. I do not want to spoil it for you. But what ever the pressures upon your time or emotions may be, don't miss the final scene in the little New Hampshire church.

When the townspeople rise, at first with difficulty and then without restraint above their preconceived notions of what constitutes a Negro, you will be proud that democracy is still strong enough to rise occasionally above ignorance and fear. And you will wonder why we Americans so often let ourselves be led astray by phonies and bigots.

You will also be proud that the motion picture industry at long last is daring to picture the Negro and Negro-white relations as they are and not to shiver in terror at the one-man censorship boards like that of Lloyd Binford at Memphis Tennessee, who threatens fire and brimstone unless Negroes are restricted to roles as menials or comics.

I want to pay special tribute to Louis de Rochemont. One of the major motion picture producers in Hollywood purchased Lost Boundaries and then dropped it. DeRochemont was so stirred by the basic honesty and drama of Bill White's story that he raised the minimum production costs of $600,000, shot the story on location to reduce expenses and achieve greater verity and thus produced the film.

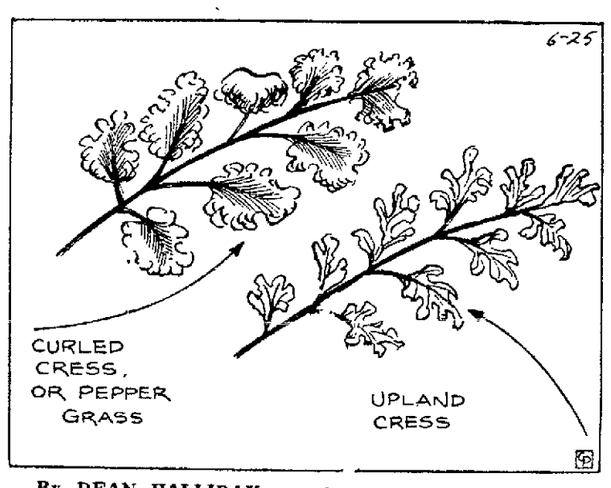
Grow Cress Outdoors or In



By DEAN HALLIDAY
(Central Press Writer)

CURLED garden cress will grow "like grass" in almost any soil, therefore, because of its usefulness in salads and as a garnish it deserves a place in the home garden.

A sprig of the small, deep green curly leaves of curled cress or pepper grass is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. The leaves have a pungent taste.

To grow curled cress as a kitchen herb, fill a glass bowl nearly one-third with clean, coarse, wet sand. Sprinkle the cress seed on top of the sand, then lay a piece of glass over the opening of the bowl until the seed germinates. A discarded gold fish bowl makes an excellent container for this purpose.

Upland cress, also illustrated, resembles and has the flavor of water cress. It will grow in any good moist soil and produce an abundance of leaves even in dry weather.

Water cress requires very moist soil to do well. It generally is grown along the banks of small creeks where, being hardy, it thrives year after year after becoming established. Some gardeners report success growing water cress in tubs.

Water cress is more than a garnish for the meat or fish platter or a "green" for salads. It is a good health food. In it in good amount are vitamins A and C, as well as calcium and iron.

Water cress really has many uses. It can be added to salad mixtures, used in soups, as a sandwich filler, garnish, and minced fine on cooked vegetables.

PAGE FOUR — MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, JUNE 25, 1949

Drive carefully tonight and tomorrow—remember that most accidents are avoidable.

Some kind of award should go to the ingenious housewife who can think up some new dish that all members of her family will like.

Noting the formality of presenting a visiting dignitary with "the key to the city", one observer wonders what's the need of a key when the place is wide-open.

Harmony In Western Union Nations

IN SPITE of the seriousness of the long-range problems confronting them, representatives of Western Union nations who met recently at Luxembourg ended their conference in complete agreement, they were able to announce.

No final decisions could be made by this group, owing to the facts that the Paris meeting reached no conclusion as to the future of Germany, the Atlantic Pact has not been ratified by the United States, and the economic status of the nations forming the Western Union is still dependent upon the help of the Economic Co-Operation Administration.

The ministers are fully agreed, however, that they must not wait for ratification of the pact to make their own defense plans. In all of the member countries, the expense of defense armaments cuts into the funds for economic recovery, but all are agreed that somehow a balance must be reached.

The power of such regional organizations as the Western Union is limited by the actions taken by the great powers at such meetings as the recent one in Paris and by conditions in bordering countries. Nevertheless the psychological effect of the unanimity of opinion in the Western Union cannot fail to be favorable. Their common problems obviously will have a common solution instead of being aggravated by individual differences of opinion.

Industrial Centers May Shift

BRITISH COLUMBIA promoters are reported to be planning the development of that province's water power, potentially one of the most valuable in the world, and in particular concentrating on the production of aluminum. They vision great cities located in the future on sites that are uninhabited today.

The rise of oil to first importance in industry bids fair to bring industry and population to parts of the world that have had neither, such as Arabia. On the other hand, more reports are coming of the exhaustion of the Mesabi iron deposits in Minnesota, just as new sources have been discovered in Labrador. This might result in a wholesale shift in the location of the steel industry.

The economic picture of the world was fairly stable for a long time. Now there are intimations that 100 years from now, or even less, some of today's prosperous areas may suffer the fate of boom mining towns, and regions now little regarded from the industrial standpoint may be the future industrial centers.

Traffic Deaths Show Increase

GLOOMY thought for the summer is that traffic deaths are ahead of last year. They are three per cent above those for the corresponding period of 1948, reports the National Safety Council. And the bulk of summer motoring is yet to come.

Some of the increase is probably attributable to old cars on the roads, which would be scrapped if their owners could afford to replace them. Present high prices of new automobiles are prohibitive to many whose earnings have not kept pace with price jumps.

Everyone who drives could make a contribution to safety by a little more thoughtfulness and courtesy. Take a few more minutes to get where you're going, and you have a better chance of getting there.

Another 'Missing Link' Found

AGAIN comes a report that the "missing link" has been found. Fossil remains have been discovered in South Africa, says Dr. Robert Broom of the Transvaal museum of that state, which show relationship between man on the one hand and apes on the other. The belief of scientists is that man and the larger apes, chimpanzee, gorilla, and orangutan, have a common ancestor. The South African bones belong to a group nearer than any previously known to the description of the supposed original ancestor.

When the idea of the evolution of man from the same ancestry as monkey was first discussed, Benjamin Disraeli, the British statesman, quipped that some persons traced man back to the apes, and some thought that he was descended from angels. He himself, said Disraeli, was on the side of the angels.

Whichever side it came from, the South African fossil is extremely remote, as it belonged to a creature that lived from one to two million years ago.

The mania of this age has been speed, but there may follow an age of higher ideals and intelligence than that, understanding that mere speed and motion are of comparatively little importance in themselves. What counts most is that which exists in the human mind and the highest use of it.

Harry Wade has the happy thought that: "With this new 60-second polaroid camera, the subject can tell instantly from the banquet group photo that he has had three too many."

It appears that Germans think differently—report comes that the optimists are learning English and the pessimists are studying Russian.

It is sometimes noted that the first payment isn't as hard to make as the "easy" ones that follow.

Washington Calling

After Graduation, What?

By MARQUIS CHILDS

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — There they go, out into the world, the long line in cap and gown. From one side of the country to the other they are stepping out of colleges and high schools as the bands play solemn music and the orators warm up their graduation-day rhetoric.

In the audience, we, their parents, feel a bursting pride. And yet at the same time we can't help but wonder what kind of a world they are going to find. It is that old familiar feeling of watching the young bird pushed out of the nest.

Foolish, of course, since many of these young men were at Guadalcanal and Salerno and Bastogne and other faraway places with strange - sounding names and nasty climates. But parents are parents and I suppose they always will be.

While the final figures are not in, the line of college graduates this June is likely to be longer than ever before. In 1948 it was 319,000, which was nearly 50 percent greater than the prewar high of 1940.

For the first time since the war, graduates this year are likely to experience some difficulty getting jobs. That is a reflection of an economy that has slipped from the phenomenal war and postwar peaks.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, gave some useful guidance the other day. He listed the fields in which there is likely to be an oversupply of new graduates for the next few years as engineering, law, accounting, business administration, personnel work and journalism. By next year pharmacy may be added to the list.

* * *

Still Some Shortages.

THERE will be continued shortages in teaching, nursing, medicine, dentistry, the medical-service occupations and social work. The big need in teaching is for elementary teachers. But high-school enrollments are expected to increase by more than a third in the 10-year period beginning in 1952, and that will mean a need for more high-school teachers.

"While the current unemployment level is still low when compared to the record size of the civilian labor force," Clague said, "it does mean job difficulties for new workers as well as for handicapped people, older workers, and others who are less readily hired. Industry's needs for new college graduates are also affected by the fact that the wartime and postwar shortages in a number of occupations have now been filled."

Trends in these matters have a way of shifting every decade or so. In the 'twenties the thing to do was go with a brokerage house and sell pretty pieces of paper for a lot more than they were worth. In the 'thirties government attracted a number of bright young men and women. The war and the inflation took care of the 'forties.

It seems to me there's a lot more uncertainty today. The young seem to be less sure of what they want to do. If there's to be a pattern in the 'fifties, it is not yet apparent.

Some long - range forecasters take a gloomy view of the collegians' future. They want to know where all the graduates in the years to come are going to find the respectable jobs they've been led to believe would be the reward for their education.

Young men and women who educate themselves in the belief that society has a place for them and then find no place are bound to be unhappy and frustrated.

Young people in this class were among Hitler's early adherents in Germany.

If education means something more than just a better job and a higher status, then maybe the young are taking away something that will sustain them no matter what the trials and tribulations. But that is speculation, too.

Plans For Years Ahead

By JAMES MARLOW

(Editor's note: This is the last of four stories on the President's plans for reorganizing the government.)

* * *

WASHINGTON — Streamlining the government would be easy to explain, and understand, if the job could all be done at one crack by the President or Congress.

It doesn't work like that. It's a kind of step by step job, taking a lot of time, stabbing in many directions —although now an effort is being made to follow a general plan.

Just as the government itself has been pieced and patched together over its whole history, so the job of trying to streamline it a bit must be done in pieces.

The general overhaul plan was outlined by the 12-man, special commission created by Congress and headed by former President Hoover. Putting the plan into action is up to President Truman and Congress.

Mr. Truman and Congress have both started work on it. So far the Hoover plan is being followed in a general sort of way, although not in every suggested detail.

In May Congress passed an act to reorganize the state department. The department now is going through its reorganization. The main idea, of course, is to get more work out of it more efficiently.

For example, the plan gives Secretary of State Acheson 10 assistant secretaries, instead of the six he has had. This is intended to lighten the load on him. And work of the department is being rearranged.

And—Congress is considering a bill now to further unify the armed services. The Senate has passed it, but there's no assurance the House will. So nothing may come of this one this year.

This bill would give Secretary of Defense Johnson almost complete control over the three branches of the armed forces, Army, Navy and Air Force.

* * *

An Earlier Effort.

CONGRESS in 1947 passed a law unifying the armed services. But that law allows the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force to go directly to the President over the head of their immediate boss, the secretary of defense.

The present unification bill would end that. So, Congress has to decide whether it will do a tighter job of unification than it did in 1947.

The freedom of those three secretaries to go over the defense secretary's head was one of the major problems of James V. Forrestal, who jumped to his death from the Naval hospital after resigning the job in the spring. He backed the bill now in Congress.

Last Monday Mr. Truman offered seven reorganization plans to Congress. If the lawmakers don't object he can go through with them.

(Much of the reorganization job can be done by simple presidential order—without any lawmaking by Congress— provided Congress does not object.)

This is the seventh plan, in outline: he wants—formally—to make the national security council and the national security resources board part of the "office of the President."

When those two bodies were created in 1947, no one said where they belonged. Actually, they've been considered part of the President's office ever since. Mrs. Truman's plan would make it a fact, officially.

The security council is made up of the secretaries of state, defense, Army, Navy, Air Force, and anyone else the President wants to appoint.

It has no powers, its job is to advise the President on matters of security. It meets only when the President wants it to.

The national security resources board is composed of government department or agency heads chosen by the President to sit on it.

Its job is to advise on our national resources. For example, if we faced war it would have to tell the President what our resources were, in metals, factories, manpower, and so on.

You'll probably be hearing about reorganization plans for years to come.

THINGS have come to a pretty pass when a Democratic governor is low on funds this might be expected of a Republican.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Tenth Cabinet Post Created By Truman

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

ACTING under the new government reorganization law, President Truman has created—subject to congressional veto — a new department of welfare, whose secretary will become the 10th cabinet member.

The new law is based on recommendations by the Hoover commission which recently completed a two-year survey of the sprawling executive branch. It empowers the President to streamline and overhaul government agencies in a manner unprecedented since the founding of the republic 160 years ago.

In addition to his welfare department proposal, Mr. Truman sent to Congress six other plans for revamping bureau setups. The new welfare department would take over most of the duties of the Federal Security Administration, headed by Oscar Ewing. These would include administration of social security, federal aid to education, and policing of the Pure Food and Drug Act.

Under the new law, the plans automatically go into effect by August 19 unless rejected by either house of Congress.

Senate Debates Labor.

Meanwhile, the Senate was embroiled in its third week of debate on labor legislation. In the Senate, as in the House, opponents of the Taft-Hartley Law disagreed among themselves.

Many T-H opponents patently wanted to compromise and write the best composite new bill they could get, even though it might retain a Taft-Hartley flavor. But a hard core steadfastly opposed all attempts at compromise.

Some lawmakers reportedly felt that since outright repeal was impossible at this session, it would be wiser to keep the Taft-Hartley Law on the books in order to have a fighting issue in the 1950 congressional elections.

Compromise Squabble.

Most AFL and CIO union leaders would have accepted a compromise, provided concessions didn't go too far. John L. Lewis, UMW boss, and A. F. Whitney, president of the Railroad Trainmen, were against any compromise.

This split among T-H opponents may result in passage through both houses of Congress of a bill retaining most features of the present law. If that should happen, labor leaders of all complexion probably would ask President Truman to veto it.

If Mr. Truman should, and Congress fails to override the veto, the Taft-Hartley Act would stay on the books.

At Home

Governors and Policy.

Gov. Dewey of New York and Gov. Warren of California, last year's Republican nominees for president and vice president, met at Colorado Springs last week for the first time since their defeat last fall. The occasion was the 41st annual governors' conference where each headed round table discussions on governmental policy.

Dewey and Warren differed sharply on health insurance. Dewey said his recent visit to England and studies in New York convinced him that universal health insurance won't work at either the national or state levels.

"Such a program," Dewey said, "would destroy the medical standards and the health of the people of the United States."

Gov. Warren, on the other hand, favors state health insurance programs. If the states can't or won't do this, Warren said he thought a national medical program was the only answer.

* * *

Drop In Drinking.

Americans drank less in 1948 for the first time in a decade.

The Commerce Department estimates $8,800,000,000 was spent on alcoholic drinks last year, a decrease of 8.7 per cent from 1947. Not since 1938 have people spent less on alcohol one year than in the preceding year.

The 1948 total is an average of $60 for each man, woman and child in the country, or $93 for those over 21.

Whisky sales totaled $3,900,000,000 in 1948 compared with $4,560,000,000 in 1947. Beer, known in some quarters as the "poor man's champagne," totaled sales of $4,445,000,000 last year, compared with $4,555,000,000 in 1947.

* * *

Airborne Radar.

The Navy is experimenting with a new long-range patrol plane outfitted with electronic equipment to spot the approach of hostile aircraft or ships. It apears to be an airborne version of its picket line of radar-equipped boats and submarines.

A big four-engined Lockheed Constellation has been converted by the Navy. The hull is pierced by at least three "radomes" from which electronic eyes can scan the horizon in all directions.

The top and nose installations enable radarmen to detect the approach of planes or missiles from above, ahead, to either side or to the rear of the picket plane. A row of radar antennae — like the dorsal fin of a fish, extends along the top of the fuselage.

Abroad

Slight Progress.

The foreign ministers ended their four-week meeting in Paris with agreement in principle on writing an Austrian peace treaty by September 1 and a Soviet pledge not to reimpose the Berlin blockade.

Occupation commanders in Berlin will consult together as part of an attempt to arrive at economic and policial unity for Germany.

* * *

Greeks Get Upper Hand.

Reports from Greece indicate the American - advised Greek army, profiting from Tito's split with the Cominform, is gaining the upper hand for the first time over Communist guerrillas.

Yugoslavia, while still officially supporting the guerrillas, has materially reduced its pressure against the Athens government. Active fighting this spring has been confined largely to the Grammos mountain area near the Albanian border.

* * *

Liberals Vs. Conservatives.

Canada's 8,000,000 voters will go to the polls Monday in a national parliamentary election. They will vote for 262 members of the house of commons, representing districts from the Arctic to the new province of Newfoundland. The results will not be announced until July 2.

The election is on the British pattern, quite different from the American. The leader of the party winning the most seats will form the new government.

The party leader automatically becomes prime minister. He and his cabinet hold office as long as they have the support of parliament but not for more than five years without a new election.

The Liberals have controlled the government since 1935.

Quotes

Dr. A. W. Cordier, assistant to Secretary-General Trygve Lie of the United Nations: "Our children's children will still be working on the Russian problem."

Vice President Barkley: "Communism is a nauseous thing that creeps and crawls over the world, taking advantage of poverty and helplessness that it may accomplish the conquest of mankind."

In Short

Jailed: By Federal Judge Medina, his fourth defendant for contempt, Gilbert Green, Illinois party chairman, at trial of 11 Communist leaders on charges of conspiring to overthrow the government.

Excommunicated: By the Vatican, government officials in Soviet-dominated Czechoslovakia, for spurious "Catholic Action."

Withdrew: The Swiss Trade Union Federation, from the World Federation of Trade Unions, charging it had become a "branch of the Cominform."

Farmer's Diary

About Our Indiana Trip

By CALVIN A. BYERS

WE STARTED for Indiana on June 15th, before the hour of six—my wife and I, with the oldest boy as driver. Our aged Ford V-8 seems to understand his boyish touch and to respond with all the vigor that remains in this useful '35 model.

We were going to visit friends we had never seen. Mr. Ora S. Butler, Butler Orchards, Pleasant Lake, Indiana read our column first in Toledo Blade, and has written to us, occasionally, since. Now, at his invitation, we were to attend the summer meeting of the Northeast Indiana Fruit Growers association, scheduled for 2 p. m. that day.

The sun shone as we set out, but the sultry air hinted rain and by the time we reached Upper Sandusky, on 30 N, cool rain was falling. We breakfasted at Cairo, at a restaurant beside the railroad tracks, where the bacon and eggs were excellent and the fresh cherry pie superb.

It rained all the way to Ft. Wayne, and the country was like a paradise. The dark rich land grew great crops of clover and mile-long, rows of young corn stretched to meet the horizons in many places. Grass and beef-type cattle populated many fields. We passed acres of gravel banks, and great depths of limestone quarries. Most towns had manufacturing industries, making farm machinery, combines, hay balers, tractors, poultry equipment, etc. People were busy, and happy about the rain.

We did not see many orchards until we left Kendallville and went north along No. 3. Here begins a part of the state that abounds in natural lakes and has the equable temperature suitable for fruit growing.

Most orchardists have power sprayers, and refrigerated storage houses. The trees were heavily laden, with prospect of a bumper crop this fall.

The fruit growers had assembled at the home of Lawrence Baker who grows peonies, as well as apples. The rain had dampened everything except the enthusiasm of the crowd. It's mighty hard to stop a crowd of orchard men with anything short of a cloudburst. So, instead of out-of-doors beneath the trees, the meeting was called to order in a glassed-in show room.

Ora Baker presided, and in the very front row sat a little bright-eyed white-haired Pennsylvania Dutchman, by the name of James Yoder, at whose home in Wolcottville the Northeast Indiana Fruit Growers were organized, 11 years ago, and whom they call the "father of their organization." (More in another article.)

Speaking of Your Health

Causes of Headaches

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

AS I have pointed out, the conditions which may cause headache are numberless but, for the type of headache which recurs frequently and persists over a long period of time, there seem to be two main causes.

These are first, head injuries and, secondly, psychological disturbances, such as mental conflicts or emotional strain.

A large number of patients with these types of headaches have been studied by Dr. Arnold P. Friedman and his co-workers, of New York.

After Accident.

Where headache resulted from injury, the pain appeared soon after the accident and persisted for more than two months.

The factors which are thought to account for these headaches are distention or swelling of the blood vessels within the skull, possible spasm of the neck and head muscles, and the emotional effect produced by the injury, such as anxiety or depression.

A patient with so - called psychogenic or psychologic headache has head pains regularly when subject to some mental conflict or strain. In these patients, thorough examination reveals no evidence of physical illness or an abnormal condition.

It is thought that these psychologic headaches are due also to some swelling or dilation of the blood vessels within the skull, and spasms of the head and neck muscles.

Various Remedies.

A variety of remedies for headaches of the two kinds mentioned have been suggested. More than 500 patients with such headaches were treated with different types of drugs — pain-relieving drugs, drugs which cause a contraction of the blood vessels, and drugs which cause the blood vessels to dilate. In addition, vitamins, together with psychological measures, were also used.

The physician, of course, will prescribe such drugs as he thinks may be useful, particularly sedatives or quieting drugs.

Corporation Executives Who Cry For Bigger Salaries Irk Writer

NEW YORK — Some of my best friends are corporation executives and to know them is to love them, but the fact remains that I, as a stockholder, pay them very well for their work, and resent their tin-cup and black-jack approach to social security and old-age assistance, all de luxe, at my expense.

Several of these distress cases have explained to me that they are really askin only my cooperation in the execution of a dodge around the income tax. They want nothing for themselves, really beyond club dues, modest replacements of their tweedy, semi-country things, their charge accounts at the Stork and the theatre ticket-broker's and a modest amount of in-kind money for their twilight years.

The real interest lies in the future of their loved ones or, in some cases, ex-loved ones who have them under continuing obligations for alimony. Those are noble sentiments and I break down and splatter manly tears like a dumb spaniel come ashore with a stick, but still I want to know why I have to be cut in on their obligations and woes.

Will they do as much for me? Who is going to pension us petty stockholders, the backbone, or the life-blood, if you like that better, of free-enterprise who keep renewing the venture-capital or sucker-money in the busy and perilous marts of trade with the little dribs and drabs after taxes and contributions to our own loved ones?

It may surprise them to learn that we have loved ones, too, and that a head of a family making $200 or $350 a week and living along the line of the five-fifteen also pays taxes and hurts when kicked and bleeds when stuck even as the chairman of the board on his $100,000 or $200,000 a year, with his bonus or incentive pay.

Yes, I do realize that a man getting $150,000 a year for his conscientious thrift in running international Beelmite, Ltd., of which I am a faceless owner to the extent of ten shares, on the mere purchase of which I had to pay a commission and a tax probably will have no more than $50,000 left when federal and state have done plucking. But quit breaking my heart. Do you think the stockholders get a pass? And, after all, you know, on $50 M a year a truly frugal fellow, stuffing away odd amounts in the cookie-jar and behind the clock could lay up a pretty fair social security of his own and keep his self-respect.

MORE than anything else I hate to hurt people's feelings and I hope you will understand that there is nothing personal or racial in these comments on the conduct of this otherwise admirable minority group, but, frankly, I think the corporation executives pay themselves too much, anyway. They think $50,000 a year is a pittance. Twice that much is just barely above the level of respectability and $150,000 represents only moderate sucess.

Frankly, an executive has to be awful good to deserve $50,000 in my scale, and I want him to smile and thank me as a generous boss instead of sulking about his take-home. I didn't invent the income tax. I have troubles of my own.

If my executive can't save money on $50,000 a year, let him give up golf, stay home nights, buy his suits off the rack and go back to lunching off the arm, to layaway his rainy-day dough, instead of putting the bite on me.

Goods Taken From Auto

Dale Ebberts of Pavonia, told Mansfield police a red and green blanket, valued at $3 was taken from his car while parked in front of 260 Orange street, today.

According to Ebberts he had parked the car at 1 a. m., and when he returned a short time later he found the venilator window had been broken and the blanket taken.

F. O. Ickert, 34 Winwood drive, told officers that someone had entered his home Friday night, from the time he left at 7:30 p. m. until his return at 1:03 a. m.

According to Ickert he found the front door standing open, and the screen removed from one of the first floor windows, but the home was undamaged and nothing was missing.

Gift To City Serves As Impressive Memorial

Ashland Dedicates Band Shell

By VIRGINIA LEED
N - J State Correspondent

The city of Ashland became the owner of one of the finest band shells and amphitheaters in this section of Ohio at Brookside municipal park Friday when the beautiful new Guy C. Myers Memorial band shell and its 3,000 capacity amphitheater were turned over to the city by its donor, Mrs. Guy C. Myers, as a memorial to her late husband.

Dedicatory ceremonies Friday night featured music by the Ashland college and Ashland high school choirs and several of the city's leading solo artists under the direction of Dr. Louis E. Pete, director of music for Ashland high school.

The band shell provides a scenic location for all musical programs, high school and college commencements, religious and other public events for which large seating capacity is needed. The amphitheater is not to be used for politicial or commercial purposes.

The amphitheater was jammed for last night's dedicatory program during which formal presentation of the shell was made by its donor.

In presenting the gift, Mrs. Myers said in part:

"At Thursday night's opening concert I turned over this band shell to Dr. Pete to fulfill his dream. Tonight I want to extend my deep gratitude to those who helped me make it possible".

Mrs. Myers then expressed her thanks to her committee, E. H. Taylor, Dr. Pete, Donald Fike and Howard Maxheimer, city engineer. She also expressed appreciation for the cooperation of the builders, William Forbes, contractor; Herbert Wheeler, who constructed the amphitheater and seating arrangements; D. D. Quinn, landscape architect; Jay Patterson who did the electrical work; Ed Hettinger, park superintendent and his helpers and the Ashland Boy Scouts who will act as ushers and helpers at all events at the amphitheater.

Mrs. Myers then presented the gift to Chester Willis, chairman of Ashland city council, acting in the absence of Mayor Louis Mansfield who was out of the city. Willis expressed the appreciation of all the citizens of Ashland for the gift.

Soloists appearing on last night's program included Miss Elizabeth Pastor, pianist; Miss Mabel Zehner, organist; Miss Patti Mosher, Miss Patricia Matthews, Oliver Neely and Glenn Hurst, soloists and Miss Dorothy Wiltrout, accompanist.

The band shell, entirely modern in design is formed of brick and measures 110 feet in height and 90 feet in width. The stage will seat a 100-piece band while an orchestra pit below will seat 65 musicians.

Beautiful lighting is given off by the enclosed square ceiling lights within the shell, a border on sides and top of neon lighting of changing colors and flood lights at the extreme top of each end. The building houses dressing rooms, practice rooms and storage space behind the walls of the stage which is two stories high.

Before the shell is an elaborate planting of shrubbery and ground plants. Cement walks form the aisles between the three sections of slatted wooden benches with slatted backs. Crushed gravel forms the floor of the amphitheater. Additional shrubbery planting sets off the amphitheater from the sides and back of the seating space.

The pictueresque building and amphitheater is located on a section of the 9.93 acres of ground purchased and given to the city by Mrs. Myers in 1937 as a part of the city park.

PRESENTATION—Mrs. Guy C. Myers formerly presents the new band shell and amphitheater to Chester Willis, chairman of the Ashland council, who served as the city's representative in the absence of Mayor Louis Mansfield.

Court Dismisses Eviction Action

The case of A. M. Bourgeois against Joseph Steele, involving an eviction has been dismissed in common pleas court. Bourgeois won a judgment in the Justice of the Peace court of G. W. Armstrong, of Sharon township, evicting Steele from a dwelling.

Steele's appeal to common pleas court was dismissed by the court on a motion by Bourgeois, who contended that Steele had not given notice of appeal to either court.

Truck Driver Freed On Bond

An Illinois truck driver held in the case of a missing Lexington girl was released from Richland county jail on $1,000 appearance bond today.

The driver, William Ogden, 31, of Decauter, Ill., told Sheriff E. P. Long yesterday that he has not seen 14-year-old Inez J. "Pat Teter of Lexington since he let her out of his truck the night of May 25. The girl disappeared from her home on that date

The driver said he picked her up along Lexington avenue road about 10 p. m. the night she disappeared. He said the last he saw of her she was walking toward Central park.

The girl was described as being five feet seven inches tall, and weighing 120 pounds.

Father's Jail Term Suspended

James R. Massie, 24, Country Club drive, was given a 90-day suspended jail sentence in probate court today for non-support of his wife, Irma, and infant child.

The non-support case against Richard Hardesty heard yesterday was dismissed by Judge Cramer.

HE DISAGREES—

J. M. Brook, Mansfield, R. D. 6, disagrees with Clarence J. Tugend, county superintendent of the state highway department, over the reason for cutting down a 150-year-old white oak tree. The tree which was on Brook's farm on U.S. Route 30-S was cut down several days ago. At the time it was cut, Tugend explained the tree had been struck by lightning several times in the past few years and falling branches had proved hazardous on the much-traveled highway. However, Brooks said the tree was attacked by a fungus disease or blight four years ago, causing the branches to rot and fall off. Brook said his family has lived on the farm for 39 years and in that time there has been no visible damage from lightning.

RATE UP—

The Mansfield post office is going to collect an additional key deposit from everyone who has rented a post office box for more than two years. However, the additional fee will amount to only two cents for each box. Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford explained the key deposit rate went up from 20 to 22 cents two years ago and persons who already were renting boxes at the time were not charged the difference of two cents. Now, in order to straighten out its books so the refund amount will not have to be looked up every time a key is turned in, the post office is going to make the deposit fee uniform for everyone.

MYSTERY CALLS—

Visitors to North Lake park, who have been hearing strange noises seemingly emanating from the drinking fountain near the ball park, may be interested in having the "mystery" cleared up. It seems a group of boys who play at the park have discovered that by talking into the pipe which carries the fountain overflow into the nearby creek, they can create strange noises which apparently come from inside the cement fountain. They have been mystifying thirsty visitors with their weird calls.

Youth Held For Giving False Alarm

A 17 - year - old East Fourth street youth will appear in juvenile court following his arrest by Mansfield police Friday night after he had reportedly turned in a false fire alarm from a box at Jeanette avenue and Superior street.

Firemen from Central and No. 3 stations answered the call at 6:35 p. m. A resident of Jeanette avenue provided police with the name of the youth, and police arrested him a short time later.

Firemen from Central and No. 2 stations were called to Sixth and Diamond streets at 11:45 p. m. Friday when the wiring in a car owned by Dave Parker, address unknown, caught fire.

Group To See Malabar

A group of 150 Lorain county farmers and businessmen will visit Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm tomorrow and picnic at South park.

The group, members of the Lorain county Farmers' and Businessmen's Club, a branch of the Elyria Chamber of Commerce, will arrive in Mansfield at 11 a. m. tomorrow, John Routzon, secretary of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce, said.

Outside picnic facilities for the 150 visitors have been arranged at South Park by Park Supt. Frank Burton.

Following the picnic lunch the Richland county sheriff's office will provide an escort to Malabar farm. The men are making the trip in private automobiles.

Counter Blockade Hinted

Berlin Strikers Join Forces

BERLIN —(UP)— American authorities today abandoned for the time being their efforts to get Russia to resume train traffic between Berlin and western Germany.

At the same time, West German railwaymen threatened to impose a counter railway blockade on the Soviet zone of Germany.

U. S. Army and military government officials said they planned no new overtures to the Russians to end their "little blockade" of the Berlin-West German railway line.

The army requested clearance for a passenger train from Berlin to western Germany last night after West Berlin's noncommunist railway strikes agreed to handle it and any other trains on the line.

The Russians ignored the request and the Soviet-controlled railway administration in effect rejected it. After first agreeing to accept the train, the railway officials changed their minds and said they could not clear a train operated by strikers.

NO NEW REQUESTS

"We plan to make no new requests to the Russians," said Capt. Harry Youngren, army public information officer. "The matter is out of our hands for the time being."

The Russians apparently were taking the stand that they will not move any trains across their zone from western Germany to Berlin until all 16,000 West Berlin strikers go back to their jobs.

Although they have agreed to handle trains to and from western Germany, the strikers refuse to work on Berlin's elevated railway system until their demands for pay in western marks and a Russian guarantee of no reprisals are met.

In an effort to force the issue, the West Berlin strikers yesterday asked their fellow railway workers in western Germany to refuse to handle trains to and from the Soviet zone.

Hans Jahn, chairman of the Western German Railway union, promised to impose the requested counter-blockade if the Berlin strikers deem it necessary.

But he said no final decision could be taken before Monday because the military governments and Bizonia railway management would have to be consulted first.

Entertains Newcomers

Mrs. Malvene Banks, Welcome Wagon hostess, has issued invitations to 40 women who have moved to Mansfield recently to attend the first meeting of the Newcomers club, a new organization jointly sponsored by Welcome Wagon and the YWCA.

The first meeting will be held in the form of a lawn party in the yard of the YWCA at 1:30 p. m. Thursday. In case of rain, the party will be held inside the association building.

Mrs. Banks is being assisted by Miss Agnes Kessler, executive secretary of the YWCA, in organizing the group.

Membership in the club will be limited to women who have lived in Mansfield less than one year.

Any newcomers who have come to Mansfield since April 1 and who have not been contacted by Mrs. Banks may call her at 3267-6 or contact the YWCA.

Register For 'Y' Camp

Any girls who were unable to register for the YWCA Daytime camp Thursday may register Monday morning, Mrs. Herman Bogantz, camp director, announced today.

Registrations may be made at the "YW" between 9 and 10 a. m. Monday, the opening day of the camping session. Physical examinations will be given at 10:30 a. m Monday for new registrants.

The Daytime camp is open to all girls 10 to 14 years old. Sessions will continue, week days only, through July 11. They will be held at the YWCA from 9 a. m. until noon.

Nearly 40 girls already have registered for the camping sessions, and no more than 60 can be accommodated.

Crop Sales To Drop As ECA Slows

Farm History Repeats Self

WASHINGTON — (AP) — History is repeating itself with regard to overseas markets for American farm products. The repetition is unpromising from the standpoint of this country's producers of food and fiber crops.

During World War I American farmers expanded output sharply. Friendly countries and fighting allies continued to take large quantities of American farm commodities after the war — but only as long as the United States gave them purchasing power in the form of loans. When the loans were stopped buying declined sharply.

This loss of war and recovery markets helped bring on the agricultural depression of the '20s and '30s.

World War II brought about another expansion in this country's farm output. Vast quantities of food are still moving abroad to help feed war-torn countries. Again, most of these exports are being financed by U. S. funds.

But there are signs that these overseas demands soon will be shrinking. These signs reflect: (1) prospects for smaller U. S. financial grants, (2) recovery of farm output in the importing countries and (3) growing competition for American products in other agricultural producing countries.

This darkening export outlook has led the government to send trade experts abroad to get an answer to this question:

What is the prospect that American farmers can sell abroad the one-eighth of their output which they normally sold there in peacetime during the past?

So far 14 trade and commodity specialists — working under direction of the U. S. Department of Agriculture — have been sent to 47 countries. What they have found to date holds little to cheer about.

In general they have reported back that when Economic Cooperation administration (ECA) funds play out there probably will be a marked drop in purchase of American crops.

Carnival Opens Monday

The American Veterans Committee will sponsor the Royal Crown shows which open at the Blue Goose showgrounds Monday night.

Features will include two girl revues, the minstrel show, fun house, monkey land and large circus side show. An aerial act, the Flying Fishers will perform nightly.

Saturday afternoon, July 2, will be Kiddies' Day. The price of all attractions will be reduced from noon until 6 p. m. for children. A fireworks display will be presented Saturday night. A free parking lot will be provided opposite the showgrounds.

Charge 2 In Butter Theft

COLUMBUS — (UP) — A navy petty officer and the proprietor of a sea food grill were free on bond today following their arrest on charges stealing and buying federal property.

Miss Lucille Dine, 43, owner of the Berwick Sea Food grill, was released under $1,000 bond on a charge that she bought butter stolen from the commissary of the naval air station at Port Columbus.

Carlos W. Oliver, 40, navy petty officer at Port Columbus, was charged with stealing the butter. He was freed under $3,000 bond following arraignment before a U. S. commissioner here.

'Golden Boy' Faces Charge

CINCINNATI — (UP) — Eric (Golden Boy) W. Pettit, 45, wandered into the Cincinnati Multi Color Type company plant here today, dipped his hands into a container of gold ink and shampooed his hair vigorously.

"Just call me Golden Boy," Pettit told sympathetic persons in a nearby cafe after he was ejected.

Police called the wagon. Pettite will face a drunkenness charge on Monday.

Rites Set For River Victims

COLUMBUS — (INS) — A double funeral will be held Monday morning for two brothers, caddies at the Scioto Country club at Columbus, who drowned while swimming Thursday afternoon in the Scioto river.

The brothers — Robert, 13, and Charles Pachlhofer, 11 — were discovered when a Pennsylvania railroad worker found their clothing on a bridge abutment over the river. He sighted the body of Charles floating below the bridge. Robert's body was brought to the surface shortly after noon yesterday.

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Sunday, June 26

SUNDAY'S astrological forecast emphasizes the importance of using leisure time for the planning and formulation of new ideas, programs and policies, probably in entirely fresh foundations or premises which take into account radical change other fields of operation, and a revamping of the life and its contacts in unfamiliar environs. With serious reflection, sound purpose, and preparation for enduring results, excellent returns are in sight.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are encouraged to give serious study to plans and developments for a radical change, of far-reaching consequence. Fresh pastures beckon, with rich opportunity for constructive work, probably romantic contacts or unique discoveries. But such probabilities should not be jumped into without sufficient preparation and consideration of the many phases of benefit, financial, with public approval and personal enjoyment.

A child born on this day may have original skills and talents which should be practically developed and planned for enduring and far-reaching experience possibly in far fields.

Wedding Stirs Resentment

LONDON — (INS) — An African tribe's approval of its chieftain-apparent's marriage to a white British stenographer was reported today causing rumblings of discontent in Bechuanaland.

Reports from Serowe, major city of Bechuanaland, described the situation as "tense." Last Thursday six thousand natives of the Bamangwate tribe gave thunderous approval to Prince Seretse Khama's marriage to pretty Ruth Williams, of London.

But according to the London Daily Mail's Pretoria correspondent, there is still strong resentment of Seretse's overstepping of the color line.

It was hinted that Ruth's life may be endangered if, as now planned, she joins her husband in Africa.

Playground Opens Monday

An additional playground will be open Monday, Mrs. Virginia Kirby, playground supervisor of the city recreation department, said today.

The playground program will be put into effect at North Lake park. Hours will be from 10 a. m. to noon and the program is for children from three to seven years of age. Miss Patricia Herr will be the playground leader.

Tennis starts Monday at Maple Lake and Liberty parks and on Tuesday at Prospect and Johns parks, Mrs. Kirby said. These programs are open to boys and girls 16 and under. Hours will be from 10 a. m. to 12 noon.

Son of Ohio Hero Will Go To Academy

ALLIANCE — (AP) — Scott Ward Ebert, whose father, commander Hilan Ebert, was killed north of Guadalcanal in 1942 will enter the United States Naval Academy by presidential appointment.

Commander Ebert was graduated from the Academy in 1926 and was awarded the Navy cross posthumously for heroism aboard the U. S. S. Northampton.

Committee OK's Higher Wage Bill

Coverage Would Be Extended

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The Senate Labor committee yesterday unanimously approved a bill boosting the minimum wage to 75 cents an hour and extending coverage to some 100,000 agricultural processing workers employed "off the farm."

Sen. Pepper (D) Fla., said the Labor department estimated that the bill would mean wage increases for one and a quarter million persons. He voiced confidence that the measure would be passed by the Senate.

The extension of farm processing coverage was achieved. Pepper explained, by eliminating a definition of "area of production" so as to grant minimum wage benefits to persons engaged in processing agricultural products off the farm.

The bill, also:

1. Tightens and improves the child labor provision of the Fair Labor Standards act by prohibiting employment of children "in commerce or the production of goods for commerce."

2. Permits the administrator to sue employers in behalf of workers for back wages, under a two year statute of limitations.

Under the flat 75-cents an hour provision, it will be possible for industry committees in the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico to lower the minimum figure if they deem it proper in those areas.

State Wants Vets' Addresses

Two Mansfield area men, Huber C. Lantz, last known address 146 Marion avenue, Mansfield, and John B. Elliott, last known address 234 Mt. Vernon avenue, S., Loudonville, are probably wondering what happened to their bonus checks from the state bonus officials in Columbus.

Lantz and Elliott are among 80 claimants for the Ohio bonus whose checks have been returned by postal authorities to the World War II Compensation Fund for a better address, Leslie G. Scrimger, director of the World War II Compensation Fund, announced today.

To make adjustments they should notify the World War II Compensation Fund, 293 East Long Street, Columbus 15, O., Scrimger said.

CVA Sparks Hot Fight

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Sen Cain (R) Wash., charged yesterday that Assistant Interior Secretary C. Girard Davidson has "violated the authority of his office" by propagandizing for a Columbia valley administration.

Cain indicated that he will push his charge that Davidson is guilty of violating a law forbidding government officials to use appropriated money in an effort to influence legislation.

Cain's charge came at a Senate Public Works committee hearing on the CVA bill shortly after Oregon Governor Douglas McKay asserted that Davidson has been making speeches "all over the northwest" for a CVA.

McKay in a prepared statement, told the committee that Davidson had been making speeches all over the northwest" saying that "if you don't have a CVA" power development would not take place.

Sen. Sparkman (D) Ala., observed that the CVA is an administration-backed project and that Davidson was acting on a "specific directive of the president." He asked McKay if Davidson should be criticized for that.

The Oregon governor answered that Davidson was "taking orders from his chief."

FEPC Backers Ask For Purge

CLEVELAND — (UP) — The Ohio committee for Fair Employment Practices legislation today called for a purge of state senator who voted to kill FEPC legislation this week.

Lockwood Thompson, chairman of the committee, charged "cold blooded and premediated murder was committed against FEPC."

The conference committee report on the legislation was called an honest and effective compromise by the committee spokesman. Thompson said most of the senators who voted against the bill had not even seen the compromise measure.

Seek Share Of Estate

The Greek counsul general in Chicago, P. Tringhetas, has filed a petition in probate court on behalf of four persons, living in Greece, who claim to be heirs at law of Steve Harrison, who died last Feb. 23 in Mansfield.

Accompanying the petition is a certificate prepared at Mesta, Greece, which alleges that the persons named are the heirs of the deceased man. The counsul asks that he or Attorney C. H. Henkel be informed of proceedings and that he receive the distributive shares from the estate for transfer to the heirs named.

Listed as heirs in the petition are a cousin of the deceased man, Antonios Almyrondis and three children of a predeceased first cousin, Konstantine and August Likourinas and Iren Antonakis.

In another case involving the same estate, Michael Gilaouris, of Canton, claims he is a cousin. As such he contended that he should be appointed administrator of the estate and that John Finefrock jr., should be removed as administrator.

Judge Cramer found that Gialouris could not sustain the allegations of his petition and the latter appealed to common pleas court. The case is pending. The estate's value is $6,191, according to the inventory, including the property at 229 North Mulberry street.

Tractor Rips Through Barn

Two accidents on Mansfield area farms resulted in painful injuries to a woman and a four-year-old boy Thursday.

Mrs. Robert Stake of Carey's Corners, near Loudonville, is in Samaritan hospital, Ashland, with a possible hip injury and severe bruises suffered when a tractor she was driving went out of control, crashed through the side of a barn and overturned.

Johnny Mack, young son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mack of Lucas, received severe lacerations on his left arm between the elbow and shoulder Thursday evening when he was struck by a mowing machine operated by his father. He was released following emergency treatment in Mansfield General hospital.

Replies In Beer Suit

Saltzgaber Denies Price-Fixing

An answer in the "nickel beer case" in Mansfield was filed today in common pleas court by one of the eight distributors charged with price-fixing tactics and restraint of trade.

M. Earl Saltzgaber, a distributor, denied the charge that he was involved in the activities mentioned in the petition of Elina Prinz which was filed June 3.

Mrs. Prinz asks $20,000 from the wholesale distributors. She charges they refused to sell her draft beer when she was selling it retail over the counter at five cents a glass.

She said her cafe at 57 East Fourth street has lost numerous customers because she couldn't supply them with nickel beer she had been selling before her supply was cut off.

Saltzgaber's answer admits only that the plaintiff was engaged in the restaurant business and was selling, at retail, various brands of draft and bottled beer. He denies each and every other allegation and asks that the plaintiff's action be dismissed at her costs.

County Rents Truck Space

County commissioners have rented space at the garage of Ole Cline at Shelby to housing a county highway truck. The rental is $15 a month and the agreement is to run three months.

The truck was kept in the Shelby city garage, but it is no longer available.

Commissioners authorized clean-out of a ditch, 600 feet of which is on the land of Emil Bohantz in Washington township and 300 feet on the land of Paul Krantz, Cass township.

Cost is $226, with the landowners paying $180 and the county $64 for moving of equipment. R. O. Darling was hired to do the work.

Lightning Hits Barn

GALION — Lightning struck a barn on the Edward Raiser farm just beyond the city limits on the South State road at midnight Friday and burned it to the ground. Loss of the barn and its contents was estimated at $6,000 by Galion Fire Chief John Durtschi. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Neighbors helped fight the flames and kept the fire from spreading to adjoining buildings. The Galion fire department was summoned.

The structure, 40 by 60 feet, was filled with 18 tons of coal, corn and some new farm equipment owned by Carl Tracht, of Blooming Grove. The Tracht machinery included a 16-foot grain drill and corn planter. Tracht carried insurance on his property but Raiser's coverage was on the structure, not the contents, Durtschi reported.

Willard Host To Patrol

WILLARD — Kenneth Heisler, owner of the Willard Airport, said more than 100 private planes will arrive in Willard Sunday morning, when the Ohio Dawn Patrol General Assembly meets here.

One of the features will be a radio-controlled civilian airplane. Trophies and other prizes will be awarded to the pilot who arrives the earliest, the one who lands closest to the secret arrival time, and the one who wins the spot-landing contest. There also will be other contests, together with a demonstration that it is possible to solo a student after only 30 minutes of dual instruction.

The first meeting of the Assembly was held in Ashland two weeks ago.

Places 5 Children In Court Custody

The five children of Robert E. Etzwiler and his former wife, Annabelle, have been placed in the custody of the Child Welfare board by Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer.

Custody of the children was referred to the court by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in granting a divorce to the parents. Etzwiler was ordered to pay $3.50 per week to the board for the support of each child. The mother had sought custody of the children in a motion filed with the juvenile court.

Driver Faces Two Charges

Delarcy L. Black sr., 48 of 40 Harmon avenue, was scheduled to appear in municipal court Tuesday on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Black was apprehended on Bowman street Friday night, shortly before 10 p. m. after his car was alleged to have struck one owned by Luther Brock, 18, of 86 Raymond avenue, while it was parked on Daisy street, near Raymond avenue.

Police were called to the scene of the accident and said Alonzo A. Redman, 575 Daisy street, who was sitting on his porch when the accident happened, gave them the license number of the car which sped away from the scene after the accident.

They later found Black driving on Bowman street and took him to the police station. He appeared before James V. Will acting municipal court judge in the absense of Judge Herbert H. Schettler, this morning and pleaded innocent to the charge of leaving the scene of the accident. He is scheduled to appear before Judge Schettler on Tuesday morning.

Meanwhile arresting officers filed the second charge of driving while intoxicated and the offender will answer to both charges Tuesday. He is being held on $500 bail.

Horse Trade Results In Legal Action

BUCYRUS — Charged with intent to defraud as a result of a horse trade here, John and Maude Willis of Richwood, O., have been held to the Crawford county jury and are free on $3,100 bond.

The couple refused to plead to the charge at a preliminary hearing before Justice F. H. Baerkircher here this week.

Complaint against the couple was filed by Harvey C. Klink, partner in the Klink and Brooks Horse Sales company here. Klink charges that the couple came to the Klink and Brooks sales barns on May 2 and "conspired with the intent to defraud that a five year old gelding they owned was a standard bred race horse with certain pedigree, breeding and lineage."

Klink states that the couple obtained from his firm in trade for their horse, a two-year-old standard bred colt worth $2,000 plus $1,500 in cash. The warrant for the arrest of the Willis' was issued after the local horsemen learned the horse was not standard bred and its lineage was unknown.

Youth Cited After Mishap

A 17-year-old Mansfield youth is scheduled to be arraigned in juvenile court June 27, following his arrest by Mansfield police Friday on a charge of unsafe operation of a motor vehicle.

Gilbert C. Templeton jr., of 828 Yale drive, was charged following an accident at Marion avenue and Wood street, when the car he was driving sturck one driven by Dora R. McLaughlin, Mansfield R. D. 2, at 2 p. m. Friday.

Police said Mrs. McLaughlin was driving south on Wood street when her auto was struck by the youth's car. Officers reported that after striking the McLaughlin car, Templeton skidded his car 146 feet before stopping. No one was hurt.

Autos Damaged In Triple Crash

Three cars were damaged slightly shortly after 6 p. m. Friday when a car owned by Carl H. Kreinbihl, 109 South Franklin avenue, broke away from its parking place in front of his home and hit a car driven by Calvin K. Schlegel, 28, Walker's road, who had stopped at the intersection of Franklin and East First street.

The car then careened across to the east side of the street and hit a parked car owned by David Johns, 57 East First street. No serious damage was reported to any of the cars.

Crash Victim In 'Fair' Condition

The condition of Clarence Kozak, 42-year-old Bellville man who was seriously injured in an auto accident near Bellville Wednesday night, remains "fair" according to General hospital attaches.

Kozak was injured in an accident in which Rolly Summers, 19, of Danville was killed and five others injured when two cars crashed head-on on State Route 13, three miles south of Bellville.

Two other victims of the accident, J. A. Dunn, 29 of Coshocton, and Frank Cahill, 59, of Akron, who were confined to the hospital, have been released, according to hospital attendants.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Buckeye Fishing Looks Up

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Creel census takers in Ohio's department of conservation and natural resources said today that fishing prospects in the state looked better for next week, but even the most optimistic didn't expect a repeat performance of two fishermen at Seneca Lake.

The unnamed fishermen spent seven and a half hours each at Seneca and caught a total of 250 fish. The unusual feat came after three days of high winds.

"When the wind subsided," the creel census taker said, "fishermen rally caught fish."

Seneca produced more fish per hour than any other lake in Ohio the past week. Fishermen averaged 1.47 fish an hour.

Heat and rain helped keep them from biting last week, but scrappy members of the sunfish family—with crappies and bluegills taking the spotlight again—kept the fishing doldrums at a minimum.

The catch at Seneca was 21.1 per cent bluegills, 72.8 crappies, while the wily bass made up only .2 of one per cent of the total. Creel census takers there said prospects were good for even higher catches next week.

Lake Alma and Indian lake ran Seneca a close second.

Here are brief creel census reports on other lakes:

Charles Mill—Fishing fair. Average .76 fish per hour. Eight per cent bluegills, one per cent bass, 70 per cent crappies, one per cent channel catfish and 20 per cent carp and bullheads. Live and artificial bait. Prospects better next week.

Pleasant Hill—Fishing fair. Average .74 fish per hour. 16 per cent bluegills, 5 per cent bass, 67 per cent crappies, 2 per cent channel catfish, 10 per cent carp and bullheads. Artificial and live bait. Prospects better for fly fishing.

Ohio Cagers Play Tonight

MIDDLETOWN — Second and final game of a basketball series featuring Ohio and Kentucky high school all-star teams will be played here tonight at 8:30.

Paul Walker, coach of the Ohio outfit, said today that there would be plenty of tickets available tonight. The Middletown mentor expects a crowd in excess of 1,000 fans.

The two teams played Thursday at Bowling Green, Ky., with the Ohio team winning a 39-to-32 decision. Bill Wilks, mainstay of the state championship Hamilton team, paced the Ohio club with 12 points.

Mansfield's Norb Shibinski, 6-3 center, is a member of the 12-man Ohio aggregation.

Two Boat Race Seen In Regatta

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. —(UP) — California's Olympic champions and the Washington Huskies planned to turn the 47th Poughkeepsie Regatta into a two-boat race today on the Hudson river.

Barring showers coach Ky Ebright's California eight and coach Al Ulbrickson's Washington shell already have been conceded the race by a crying club composed of the coaches of the other 10 boats which will start in the three-mile varsity race at 5:30.

Wake Forest Nips Southern Cal 9

WICHITA, Kas. — (AP) — Charley Teague's triple in the last half of the twelfth inning gave the Wake Forest Demons a 2 to 1 victory over Southern California in the semi-final of the national collegiate (NCAA) baseball tournament last night.

The loss eliminated Southern California, the 1948 NCAA champion, and moved Wake Forest into the championship finals tonight against the Texas Longhorns.

AVC Outfit Clings To Second Spot

American Legion Post 16 vaulted into undisputed possession of first place in the International softball league last night by knocking American Veterans Committee out of the undefeated ranks, 6 to 2, at Johns park.

AVC had been riding in first with four straight victories while last night's win was the third straight for the Legion nine. Hooks set AVC down with seven hits and a pair of runs in the third inning. His mates scored single tallies in the first and third and clinched the result in the fourth when Huber banged a home run with two mates on the sacks.

Westinghouse Engineers tallied twice in the top of the seventh to edge Tom's Restaurant, 6 to 5, at Liberty park behind the five-hit hurling of Thurtson. It was the second win in four starts for the Engineers. Worthley and Fox homered for the winners while Eggerton hit one for Tom's.

Amvets remained in third place by taking over East Side Nite club, 4 to 1, behind the five-hit pitching of Distl. Distl also batted in two runs, enough to win the game. The Amvets have won three of four.

Dutch Harrison Tops Open Meet

TORONTO — (AP) — Sixty-six golfers set out in pursuit of E. J. (Dutch) Harrison today in the final round of the Canadian open championship, but less than half a dozen had any hope of catching him.

The pro from Little Rock, Ark., has knitted together three straight sub-par rounds of 66-67-71 for a 54-hole total of 204. This gives him a three-stroke lead going into the final four.

2 Mansfield Publinx Aces Qualify For Ohio Amateur

By CHARLEY STINE

AKRON—Bad putting on the part of one, four lost balls by another, and just plain bad luck for the third, took Mansfield's three entrants out of the Ohio Public Links tournament here yesterday.

Two of them—Pete Thoma and Ted Etzel—did, however, qualify for the Ohio Amateur to be held at Mansfield's Westbrook Country club next month. They were among the top 24 but failed to make top 16 for match play here.

Thoma was the victim of the ill fortune as he missed qualifying for today's match play by one stroke. He carded a 151 and missed an eight-inch putt for a bogey on the last hole of the day.

Even then he looked to be in for a playoff with four other "151's" for the 16th match play berth. The playoff was about ready to start when the last man in off the course. John Barko of Cleveland, came in with 147 and took the 16th berth.

Although his overall card of 40-37—77, 37-37—74—151 was not good enough, Thoma would have been sudden death for anyone in match play yesterday. He had seven birdies, but fell down on four double bogeys and a triple bogey.

Etzel, the number one qualifier from the Akron district, just could not get the ball in the cup. He had but one bird although his shots were dropping on the green consistently. His card showed 41-34—75 40-37—77—152, two strokes off the pace but still good enough to be among the top 24 which get to play in the state amateur.

The third Mansfielder in the show, Bernie Mathias, lost four balls, hit one out of bounds, and then picked up his ball on the last nine holes. He played the string out "just for fun" and came in with 83-77—160.

TIE FOR HONORS

Defending champion Val Chiaverini and Tom Cloran of East Liverpool tied for medalist honors with 143. Chiaverini will meet Canton tavern Jim Caspio today. Complete pairings are:

UPPER BRACKET

Val Chiaverini, Toledo (143) vs. Jim Caspio, Canton (147) Joe Lazor, Akron (146) vs. Joe San Filippo, Cleveland (148) Pete Kostyshak, Youngstown (144) vs. Andy Santor, Youngstown (148) Vince Loskosky, Youngstown (147) vs. Ralph Schneider, Cleveland (150)

LOWER BRACKET

Tom Cloran, East Liverpool (147) vs. John Barko, Cleveland (147) Steve Kungle, Akron (146) vs. Jack Zimmerman, Dayton (150) Alex Pietrzak, Dayton (145) vs. Bill Santor, Cleveland (148) Ed Koski, Steubenville (142) vs. Paul Tulga, Columbus (150)

Last night, at a directors' meeting, Mayor James Rhodes of Columbus was elected to his third term as president of the State Public Links Golf association.

The board also favored—but did not decide formally—Dayton as a site for next year's tournament. The reason advanced was that it would revive interest in such cities as Cincinnati, Hamilton, Middletown and Springfield.

None of those cities had representatives in this year's tournament.

Dick Gonzales Meets Aussie Tennis Star

BULLETIN

WIMBLEDON, Eng. —(UP)— Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, the U.S. singles king, was eliminated in the Wimbledon tennis championship today by Geofrey Brown of Australia.

Gonzales, seeded No. 2, went down before the Aussie ace, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

★

WIMBLEDON —(INS)— Dick Gonzales will clash with Australia's Geoff Brown today on Wimbledon's famed centre court in the feature match of the all-England tennis championships.

This is a fourth-round singles match.

Ted Schroeder, of La Crescenta, Cal., the favorite in the tourney, will take on Vladimir Cernik, of Czechoslovakia, in another star match.

Bob Falkenburg, of Hollywood, Cal., the defending champion in the singles, will appear in two matches. In a fourth-round singles match, he will play Hans Van Swol of the Netherlands, and will team with Czechoslovakia's Jaroslav Drobny against Earl Cochell of San Francisco and Sweden's Torsten Johnasson in a third-round match in the men's doubles.

Gonzales, the American singles champion, also will see action twice. In the men's doubles he and Frankie Parker will meet the Belgian pair, Phillipe Washer and J. Brichant.

Gertrude "gorgeous Gussie" Moran, of Santa Monica, Cal., was the only major American casualty yesterday. Gorgeous Gussie was eliminated in the women's singles by tiny Gem Hoahing, a Chinese ballet dancer who came to England from Hong Kong.

Miss Moran blamed her 6-2, 5-7, 6-3 defeat on the circumstance that she was "in a daze throughout the match." The "daze" reportedly resulted from the unprecedented publicity about her lace-trimmed tennis panties.

Isaly Dairy Nine Beats Wellington

With Ralph Griffith pitching three - hit ball, Mansfield Isaly dairy turned back Myers Motors of Wellington, 4-2, last night under the Wellington lights. Gene Theeson and Charles Hamman belted home runs for Isaly's.

Isaly's will travel to Caledon a for a double-header tomorrow, the first game being scheduled for 2:30 p. m.

G-R Nine Wins Over Mt. Vernon

MT. VERNON—Mansfield Gorman- Rupp downed Mt. Vernon in an exhibition softball game here last night, 4 to 2, behind the sparkling slants of Bobby Regula.

The Pumper fire-ball artist gave up only three hits and struck out nine opposing batsmen. Both Mt. Vernon runs came in the third inning after Gorman-Rupp had assumed a three-run lead. The Pumpers clinched the title in the fourth frame with a single tally.

Kenny Windsor, second-sacker, banked a home run for the Mansfield nine while Bill McCarrick led the eight-hit attack with a single and double. Gorman-Rupp copped two of three games this week.

Indianapolis — Archie Moore-Bob Sikes fight postponed to Monday, rain.

Rapid Robert Doles Out But 7 Safeties

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Rapid Robert Feller isn't washed up yet.

In another smooth performance last night, he pitched the Cleveland Indians within a full game of second place and a half game out of third in the American league standings. It was his fourth win against six defeats.

Victims of a lively Feller fast ball and cracking curve were the Washington Senators by a score of 8-2. Feller gave up only seven hits, struck out three, and walked three. He never was in serious trouble.

The win, which places the Tribe hot on the tails of the second place Philadelphia Athletics and third spot Detroit Tigers, was the eighth in 11 eastern engagements. Also, it was the second in a row over Washington, who had little trouble squelching the Tribe earlier in the season.

Frank Papish, who has been primarily a relief pitcher for the Tribe, will start today's game, Mickey Harris will pitch for Washington.

Every man in the Tribe lineup cracked at least one hit except Mickey Vernon in the Tribe's nine-hit attack on three Senator pitchers.

Bob Kennedy with an inside the park homer and a single led the attack. Feller even entered the offensive side of the picture with a line drive triple to score Jim Hegan in the sixth.

Joe Haynes, a four-time winner over Feller in 1946, was hammered for three runs on three hits in the second inning as the Tribe clinched the contest.

BEATS OUT BUNT

Larry Doby opened the inning by beating out a drag bunt down the first base line.

Joe Gordon walked and Ken Keltner sacrificed. When Haynes threw the retrieved bunt past third trying to get Doby, the fleet center fielder scored. Singles by Kennedy and Hegan scored the other two markers.

It was Feller's third win in 10 days. The Tribe remained six and a half games behind the league leading New York Yankees, however.

2 Major League Stars Come Back

NEW YORK — (AP) — Two more major league baseball players whose five-year suspensions have been lifted were back with their old clubs today.

Mickey Owen, the former Brooklyn catcher, rejoined his mates in Pittsburgh.

Meanwhile, in St. Louis, pitcher Fred Martin signed a contract with the Cardinals for $7,500, the figure he was making when he skipped to the Mexican league in 1946.

Coaltown Favored In Chicago Race

CHICAGO — (INS) — Coaltown, the colt that can outrun even Jersey Joe Walcott, reports for duty at Arlington Park today in the equipose mile.

The 11 speed specialists nominated overnight to oppose Coaltown in the $25,000 added equipose have their tasks cut out for them. It is universally conceded that Coaltown is the finest horse on the turf today.

Mercury Hits High For Year

Ohio Swelters In Humid Wave

Mansfield and most of Ohio marked up the hottest day of the year yesterday when the mercury topped 90. Mansfield's reading was 91.

It will be hot again tomorrow, the weatherman said, although local thundershowers are expected to bring some relief. Thunderstorms late last night in Mansfield cooled the air a little

Cleveland and Columbus both reported readings of 95, highest on record for June 24, while Chesapeake, the little southern Ohio town which has had the highest readings in the state all week, reported the temperature hit 96.

While the year's hottest temperatures baked Ohioans, some relief was seen likely in areas where showers fell during the night.

Pavements buckled on the hot streets in some cities but the comparatively low humidity lessened the discomfort of the sizzling temperatures.

Weather Forecaster Milton Davis at Cleveland said the high temperatures would continue through Sunday and that a moderation is the tentative outlook for Monday.

There is a cool air mass development in the far northwest," he said, "but it's too early to determine its speed of movement in this direction or to judge what other modifications may occur before it reaches the Ohio area."

A week end of hot, humid weather appeared in prospect for the dry-stricken North Atlantic coastal area.

No rain was forecast for the drought area in the northeastern states where crops have suffered heavy damage because of lack of substantial rainfall in the last month.

The continued hot, sunny weather over wide areas of New England, New Jersey and New York has created fire hazards in wooded areas. Acute water shortages have been reported in many communities.

Rhode Island has joined with other New England states in closing woodlands as a precaution against fires

3 Elections Scheduled

(By Associated Press)

Three nations — Canada, Belgium and Syria — are charting their future courses in elections this week end.

Canadians will decide by ballot Monday which party they think will better advance the prosperity of Canada's 13,000,000 citizens. They have the choice of reelecting the liberal administration of Prime Minister Louis St Laurent or turning to other parties.

Chief and traditional political foe of the Liberals is the Progressive Conservative party led by the former premier of Ontario, George Drew.

There is a royal issue in Belgium. The nation's largest party — the Social Christian— is supporting a proposal that former King Leopold III be put back on the throne. He now is in exile in Switzerland.

Many Belgians resent the fact that Leopold surrendered his country to the nazis instead of fleeing to set up a government to fight in exile as did Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and other rulers.

Syria is holding a rubber stamp election today — there is only one residential candidate on the ballot. He is Col. Husni Zayim, military governor of the country since he ousted the previous regime last March. Besides approving Zayim as president, the people are asked to vote on whether they want free elections held regularly and a new constitution.

Police Capture 'Lothario'

(Compiled from wire dispatches)

CHICAGO — White-haired Sigmund Engel, suave "love pirate" accused of swindling more than 50 women of an estimated $1,000,000, gabbled happily today about his exploits, told the secrets of his success—and tried to date a girl reporter who talked to him in jail.

Engel, a former vaudevillian who claims to be 80 years as against the 73 years the police allow him, was arrested in Chicago late yesterday as he was shopping for "honeymoon" luggage for another woman—or, as police put it, another "victim."

He is held on confidence charges—charges Engel made plain he regards as without foundation.

"Surely," he said, "they can't punish me for merely enjoying lovely women. Isn't that every man's right?"

Engel blamed his career on what he called "womanmania." He defined the word for newsmen as follows:

"Women are my career. I love women. It's somewhat similar to kleptomania. I call it womanmania."

His admitted victim, attractive 39-year-old red-haired Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, with whom he posed as a successful Hollywood producer during their whirlwind courtship, was not so understanding. She said she intended to prosecute, adding:

"He shouldn't go on doing that sort of thing."

Mrs. Corrigan's identification of him was turbulent.

"You thing, you!" she screamed. "You thing! You thing, you t-h-i-n-g!" Police restrained her from scratching out his eyes.

Engel replied unperturbed:

"You, madam, are a nothing, absolutely nothing."

The true Lothario, Engel insists, has no age preference in his women. Says the master:

"The age of a woman doesn't mean a thing. After all, the best tunes are played on the oldest fiddles."

Greeks Form New Cabinet

ATHENS, GREECE — (UP) — Vice Premier Constantin Tsaldaris had the King's mandate today to form a new government to succeed that of the late premier Themistocles Sophoulis.

King Paul authorized Tsaldaris to set up a new cabinet late last night a few hours after Sophoulis' sudden death.

Tsaldaris was foreign minister as well as vice-premier in Sophoulis' government and heads the traditionally Royalist and conservative Populist party. He has been premier twice before, in 1946 and early 1947.

Sophoulis' body was to be taken today to the state cathedral, where funeral services will be held tomorrow. King Paul has decreed five days of national mourning, ending at sunset Tuesday.

Reds Use Seal Of Archbishop

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — (UP)—Agents of Czechoslovakia's communist government are sending out mail from Archbishop Josef Beran's office under his seal despite the fact he has ordered the office closed.

The office was humming with activity when foreign newsmen visited Archbishop Beran's palace yesterday for the first time since government agents took over control of the building June 15.

The newsmen watched four men and a girl in the archbishop's office or consistory filling and stamping envelopes. The Catholic prelate's seal could be seen on each mimeographed letter inserted in an envelope.

Miss Haynes Dies At 85

Taught In City Schools Many Years

Miss Harriet Haynes, 85, one of Mansfield's oldest retired school teachers, died at General hospital Friday afternoon, following a lingering illness. Miss Haynes had been a patient at General hospital for more than three years.

Thousands of Mansfielders remember Miss Haynes as the teacher who gave them an early start in learning their three "R's". A teacher in the public school system, she taught the second grade at West Fifth street school for many years before retiring.

Miss Haynes was born in Mansfield March 12, 1864, the daughter of Kingsbury and Virginia Coates Haynes. She lived here all her life. She was a member of the First Methodist church.

Her only survivors are distant cousins and friends.

Rev. C. W. Stoneburner, pastor of the First Methodist church, will conduct funeral services at the Finefrock funeral home at 1:30 p. m. Monday. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

It was Miss Haynes' request that flowers be omitted.

Girl, 21, Is Polio Victim

Richland county's first polio victim of the year was reported today by the Mansfield-Richland county board of health.

She is Miss Eleanor Witzky, 21, of Lexington, R. D. 1.

The patient will be taken to Children's hospital, Columbus, Health Commissioner Harry Wain said.

The first polio case in Richland county last year was reported on July 1, Dr. Wain said.

He declared the fact the one case was reported a few weeks earlier this year, is of "no particular significance."

Seek 'Fat' Bandit

DAYTON — (INS) — Two bandits, one described as a 50-year-old fat man, were sought by police today after robbing a Dayton cafe of $1,000 to $2,000

The Mansfield Masonic band directed by Oscar Fensch and managed by William W. Mosey, provided music during the evening.

Officers of the Mystic club, who were in charge of the annual picnic, were Homer L. Dent, R. N. Campbell and D. C. Cole of Mansfield Lodge No. 35; E. W. Deitrick, Ralph Damlos and Albert H. Benson of Venus Lodge No. 152, and W. Russell McCullough, Albert J. Barker and Cyril F. Hartman of Frank H. Marquis Lodge No. 690.

Weatherman Is Kind This Time

1,500 Masons Play, Dine At Outing

Nearly 1,500 Mansfield Masons and their guests renewed fraternal friendships and dined on picnic fare yesterday at their 38th annual outing at South park.

The weatherman was kind this time, too. It didn't rain. The Masons have been chased under cover by showers during most of their recent picnics.

The parties are sponsored by the Mansfield Mystic club which is made up of the three Blue lodges.

Card playing by older members in the early afternoon opened the festivities. Later the men played horseshoes and softball.

A cafeteria-style lunch was served in the park pavilion. There were three lunch lines into the pavilion with service provided at the three table counters manned by members of the three Blue lodges.

"This is the first Mansfield Masonic picnic we ever held where potato salad wasn't served," said A. F. Porter, secretary of the Mystic club and a Mason for 43 years. "It was the easiest one to handle, too, as fussing and fuming were eliminated by serving warm food. The men got potatoes, served hot as scalloped potatoes. We also served warm baked beans."

"I remember the first picnic we had, back in 1911, at Savannah Lake," Porter continued. "The food was prepared a day ahead and covered food wagons left Mansfield at 3 a. m. All lemons used in making lemonade were squeezed by hand. The picnic, served at noon, attracted nearly 700 people."

FOOD RUNS LOW

Officials became worried about the food supply yesterday when it ran low as the lines thinned. It proved adequate, but no second helpings were available.

The club served 350 pounds of potatoes, 150 pounds of baked ham, 135 pounds of cheese, 20 gallons of cottage cheese, 50 dozen buns, 60 loaves of rye bread, 200 pounds marrowfat beans, eight gallons of sliced dill pickles, 24 bottles of mustard, four cases of catsup, 70 cases of soft drinks and 600 bottles of chocolate milk

Auto Crash Kills Girl

ASHLAND — Miss Dorothy Joan Simpson, 19, of Akron, R. D. 1, died in Samaritan hospital here at 10:15 a. m. today of injuries suffered at 8:55 a. m. when the car she was driving skidded and overturned. The accident occurred on U. S. Route 42 three and a half miles northeast of here.

Ralph Rogers, Ashland county deputy sheriff, said the victim was driving a car owned by her sister, Mrs. Jean Elliott, of Akron, R. D. 1, who was a passenger.

Miss Simpson lost control and the car dropped over the berm, skidded and turned over, the officer said. The victim never regained consciousness. Mrs. Elliott was uninjured.

The sisters were en route to Delaware to visit their mother. The body is at the hospital pending arrangements. Miss Simpson suffered a basal skull fracture and lacerations of the head and face.

Secret Service Orders 'Money' Destroyed

Uncle Sam Frowns On 'Phony Bucks'

Those "phony Co-op bucks" which have been widely distributed in Mansfield and Richland county, have struck a snag.

The "bogus money" has been printed on about the same size paper as real money and, according to J. A. Burkhart, Richland County Farm Bureau manager, constitutes a sufficient likeness to real money to bring some reaction from the U. S. Secret Service.

The 'tax-free co-op buck' campaign, sponsored by the National Tax Equality association, is aimed at Farm Bureau co-operatives. The "phony bucks" bear this short poem: "Roses are red, violets are blue, co-ops dodge taxes, why can't you."

The U. S. district attorney in Chicago said the NTEA could continue printing the "bogus bills" if it desires, but the "bucks" must look less like real money

The NTEA voluntarily surrendered stocks of the "money" and the engraving plates to the government agency, news dispatches from Chicago said

"The NTEA has been spearheading an extensive drive throughout the country to create the impression that co-operatives do not pay taxes," said Burkhart.

Burkhart denied that the farm co-ops were evading any taxes. "Co-ops do not pay income taxes because they do not make any profit," Burkhart said. "The farmers who receive patronage dividends from their cooperatives are required to pay income tax on the patronage they receive."

Klansman Offers FBI Aid

Ohioan, Green Hold Meeting

ATLANTA — (UP) — The grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan and an Ohio man, unable to get together, today offered separate evidence on terrorism to the FBI.

Joseph Goldwasser said he would take the FBI a scrawled note warning "all Catholics, Jews and Negroes" of flogging if they come into this area. Dr. Samuel Green, head of the Klan, said he would help the FBI catch those men responsible for recent mob acts in Alabama.

"We want these renegades run down and if we can help the FBI do it, we will do it," Green said at a meeting with Goldwasser. The Clevelander, a representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people, called on Green at his office here.

Nine reporters were present, and Green had a wire recorder running. He barred from the session two reporters for the Atlanta Daily World, a Negro publication. He rejected Goldwasser's informal application for Klan membership, and disagreed with him on numerous points.

FOUNDED ON 'LOVE'

"The Klan helps Jews and Negroes who stay in their place," Green told him. "When the newspapers say we are a hate organization, they lie. The Klan is founded on love, not hate."

When Goldwasser exhibited the note he had received, bearing a sticker showing a robed and mounted Klansman, Green called it the work of "some darn idiotic nut" and advised throwing it away. But Goldwasser said he would take it to the FBI.

The grand dragon said he was just as concerned as anone over the outbreak of violence in the Birmingham area, but said Attorney General Tom Clark's inference that Klansmen might be responsible was "an unmitigated lie."

He had previously blamed a Klan offshoot for the Birmingham incidents, and said he had sent an investigator into the area because the Klan had to protect its name.

2 Children Abandoned

SYRACUSE, N. Y. —(UP)— An ex-GI who left his two tiny children alone on an island in the Seneca river was found today at the home of his father and the sheriff's office sent deputies to take him into custody.

Donald Frazier of Port Jervis, was the object of a widespread search after the children, aged five and three, were rescued last night by a fishing party from the mile-long island where they had been left alone since Thursday.

Hungry, exhausted and insect-bitten, the tots were rescued by Keith Wickes who was fishing with his wife and family near the island.

Wickes said the children, who identified themselves as "Peggy" and "Brother", were famished.

He said the children apparently had not eaten anything except scraps since Thursday.

"The odor in the shack was terrible," he said. "There was a snapping turtle with the head and legs chopped off, and uncooked and beheaded sunfish and three potatoes boiled in their skins.

"There also was what looked like a wild duck. Two or three days old and partly cooked," Wickes said. "The smell in the cabin made me stumble back from the door."

Transit Workers Win 9-Cent Boost

CLEVELAND — (AP) — A wage increase of nine cents an hour and several benefits in working conditions will be the basis of a new contract between the Cleveland Transit system and its operators.

The recommenations were submitted by transit umpire David Ralph Hertz yesterday and will be effective July 1. Spokesmen for the CTS and the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach employes said they would abide by the decision in accordance with their agreement to submit disputed contract issues to an umpire.

Khan Orders Runabout For Riviera

ALGONAC, Mich. —(UP)— A sleek 19-foot runabout speedboat has been ordered by Aga Khan III, spiritual leader of millions of Mohammedans and father-in-law of Rita Hayworth, the Chris Craft corporation announced here today.

Kenneth G. Atkinson, export manager said the boat has a top speed of 44 MPH., a 158 horsepower engine, and is painted red, white and blue. He said no deluxe equipment had been put on the boat. It is a standard model.

The boat will probably be used at the Riviera and Cannes, French resort areas, Atkinson said

4 Injured In Crash of Cars, Wagon

Woman Seriously Hurt Near Lucas

Four persons were injured, one seriously, in an accident involving a hay wagon and two cars late yesterday near Lucas.

State Highway patrolmen said a car driven by Miss Ann Stevens, 21, Berea, Ky., struck the hay wagon and then collided head-on with another car. The accident occurred at 7 p. m. on State Route 39 one and half miles southeast of Lucas.

Miss Stevens suffered a skull fracture, deep lacerations of the face and arms and leg injuries. She was reported in fair condition today in General hospital.

Others less seriously injured were: Walter Stovall, 45, of Atlanta, Ga., who was riding with Miss Stevens; Wallace Denapie, 24, of Glenmont, driver of the second car, and Charles Doane, 20, also of Glenmont.

Stovall suffered fractured ribs and lacerations of the face, while Doane had contusions and lacerations of the face and head. Both are in General hospital where their conditions were termed good. The fourth motorist, Denapie, suffered abrasions of the chin and possible rib fractures, but he was released from the hospital after treatment.

Patrolman said the accident occurred when the car driven by Miss Stevens attempted to pass the hay wagon. In attempting to cut back and avoid collision with an oncoming car, driven by Denapie, Miss Stevens struck the rear of the hay rack and the car was thrown into the path of the oncoming vehicle.

David Culler, Lucas R. D. 1, was driving the tractor pulling the hay wagon, escaped injury, as did two other men riding with him. They were Homer Shafer and Jerry Niswander, also of Lucas R. D. 1.

Finds $1,520 Buried In Jar In Coal Pile

HILLSBORO — (AP) — A glass jar under a coal pile at an old age pensioners home has yielded $1,520 in $20 bills.

The money was found yesterday by a man who had purchased the coal from the trustees of Salem township

The trustees removed Mrs Ellen Warlaumont, 75, from her two room shanty to the Highland county home several days ago They decided to sell the coal piled against her dwelling to Raymond Griffity

When he began hauling coal away, Griffity found the glass jar in an old coffee can The money was packed in cigarette bags.

He took the money to the Merchants National bank and when Mrs. Madge Troth, local manager of the Ohio Division of Aid for the Aged, learned of the find she ordered that the money be held pending instructions from her Columbus office.

Mrs. Warlaumont had been receiving old age benefits "for some time," Mrs. Troth said

She added that when Mrs Warlaumont was taken from her home she had remarked: "There's money around the house, but you'll never find it."

Phone Rate Boost Decision Due Soon

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The State Utilities commission today studied lengthy testimony on Ohio Consolidated Telephone company's request for higher rates.

Its two day hearing of the case ended yesterday, but a decision is not expected for about two weeks. Attorneys for the company and those who oppose the rate boosts still are to file briefs.

Seeks To Kill Coal Combine

Miners Start On Vacation

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. —(UP)— John L. Lewis today launched an all-out attack against the Southern Coal Producers association as contract negotiations neared the crucial stage.

In an effort to kill the association and to thwart its drive for a separate contract with the United Mine Workers, Lewis is trying to convince individual southern operators they should desert the association and join the parleys here.

In his fight, he has the aid of the northern and western coal producers, some southern operators and the 10 steel companies which operate the captive mines.

Spokesmen for these operators said they will never permit Lewis to grant the Southern association special benefits in a separate contract.

Lewis is negotiating with these operators here in an effort to obtain a contract to replace the one expiring next Thursday. He told them yesterday the new agreement must contain improvements in wages, hours, working conditions, and employer contributions to the welfare fund.

MINES LAY IDLE

Coal mines in 26 states lay idle, meanwhile, as miners began their annual 10-day vacation. They are scheduled to return to work July 5, but the chances are they won't, unless the producers reach some sort of an agreement with Lewis.

Lewis long since declared war on the Southern association. He has charged that it is nothing more than a "holding company" that stands between his union and the operating coal companies.

The association and the United Mine Workers have been trying to negotiate a separate agreement at Bluefield, W. Va., since early this month. But so far little, if any progress has been made.

The hearings here are in recess until Thursday. The intervening four days will be crucial ones for Lewis' efforts to wean individual southern companies away from the Bluefield talks.

It was reported that several district associations intend to decide this week-end whether or not they should desert the association and participate in the parleys here.

Flash Flood Fatal To 42

PACHUCA, Mexico — (UP) — At least 42 persons died here last night when a cloudburst, hail storm and flash flood ravaged this centuries-old silver mining town, authorities said today.

Nineteen women, fifteen men and eight children were counted among the victim of the 20-minute-long story.

In addition to the known dead, 40 persons were injured seriously and from 200 to 400 had been reported missing.

Most of the victims died in the crowded Juarez market area. Flood waters battered down one wall of the market and filled it to a depth of about ten feet.

One woman said that, trapped on the street by the furious waters, she wrapped her baby in her rebozo (shawl) and climbed a telephone pole with him. The waters rose so fast, she said, that the baby was torn from her arms before she could reach safety

Another child was frozen to death under a pile of large hail stones, just out of the sight of his frantic mother who could not force open the ice-jammed door that separated them.

U. N. Committee Flays Bulgaria

ATHENS — (INS) — The United Nations Special Commission on the Balkans charged today that Bulgaria furnished aid "of great quantity and diversity" to the Greek guerrillas.

The commission, which has been prevented from entering the Soviet satellite Balkan states, also claimed Albanian authorities have placed territory at the disposal of the Guerrillas for strategical purposes.

Rev. Willard Named To Pastorate

Open Bible Church Gets California Man

Rev. William J. Willard, of Lodi, Calif., has been named to fill the pastorate at the Open Bible church, 161 Park avenue east, beginning Aug. 1.

Rev. Willard will fill the vacancy left when Rev. Earl Lee resigned last week to assume the pastorate of the West Des Moines Open Bible church July 17. Rev. Lee, who has been in Mansfield for five years, will conduct his final services here Sunday before leaving for his new church Monday morning.

Rev. Willard has been the pastor of churches in Pennsylvania, Nebraska, South Dakota, and California, and has held evangelistic services throughout the country.

He will be assisted in his duties here by his wife. Both Rev. and Mrs. Willard sing and play several instruments. The Willards and their two children are expected to arrive in Mansfield the latter part of July.

Until Rev. Willard arrives, Rev. and Mrs. Jack Card, evangelists, will conduct services at the church.

Festival Set Tonight At Fairgrounds

Final plans were completed for the annual ice cream festival sponsored by the Senior 4-H club when the group met recently at Libery park.

The affair will be this evening at the Fairgrounds.

During the business meeting Kenny McFarland and Doris Bair reported on their recent visit at the Leadership camp held at Camp Ohio.

The group discussion period was conducted by Charles Clingan, after which games were played. The next meeting, July 19, will be a hayride and initiation of new memebers at the home of Richard and William Wolford.

★

Another 4-H group meeting held recently was at the home of Carolyn Kochenderfer for members of the Sew-Sew club.

The group planned a community project, and the hostess gave a demonstration of making tossed salad.

It was announced that a Plastic party has been planned for June 29 in the Grange hall in Shenandoah, while the next regular meeting will be July 11 at the home of Kay Mauser.

★

The home of Kay Clark was the scene of the regular meeting of Kings Corners Merry Workers. The next meeting is scheduled for July 4 at the home of Norma Hurrells.

Twelve members of the Ontario Happy-Weeders enjoyed a weiner - roast at the home of Carol Burger. Charlotte Danals was a guest for the meeting which was in charge of the leader, Mrs. L. J. Pitman.

The group will meet again July 6, from 2 until 4 p. m., at the home of Eddie and Richard Sauder, it was reported.

Jesus Continues His Ministry — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matt. 28:16-20; Mark 16:14-20; Luke 24:45-53; Acts 1:1-14; Hebrews 7:25.

On a mountain in Galilee Jesus appeared to His disciples who worshiped Him but some doubted. He spoke to them, telling them that all authority had been given Him in heaven and on earth.

Jesus told His disciples that they must go forth and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, and He would be with them always.

In His tenth and final appearance to His disciples, Jesus told them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the promise of the Father, for they were to be baptized in the Holy Spirit.

Jesus led the disciples as far as Bethany, blessed them, and a cloud received Him out of their sight. The disciples returned to Jerusalem with great joy.

MEMORY VERSE—Matthew 28:19.

JAMES E. LOWDEN

Leader To Talk Tonight

James E Lowden, Youth For Christ representative to Greece, will be the guest speaker at the Youth For Christ rally at John Simpson auditorium at 7:30 p. m. today, George McNair, Mansfield director, announced today.

Lowden will tell the story of his experiences inside Greece in 1948.

A former director of the Findlay Youth For Christ group and a radio pastor for several years, Lowden is now traveling throughout this country on behalf of the evangelical effort in Greece.

Lowden received his preliminary training at the Moody Bible institute and Wright junior college and was graduated from the Northern Baptist Theological seminary. He is a candidate for a master's degree in philosophy in the post-graduate school of Loyola university.

During the war Lowden was associated with the Bible Meditation league as field representative in Chicago, and spoke in military establishments on behalf of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago.

As a youth speaker, he has addressed groups in churches of nearly every denomination, at Bible conferences, missions, military chapels, and prisons.

Grange Exchange Meeting Postponed

The program exchange between Butler Grange of Adario and Olivesburg Grange, scheduled to be held Tuesday, has been postponed due to illness of the visiting Grange master, Melvin Yoha. A new date for the meeting has not been set.

Olivesburg Grange will visit Plymouth Grange July 12, as scheduled.

Miss Dickson, Back From Egypt, Unperturbed By Heat

Plan Welcome For Nurse

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Mansfield's hot weather does not seem very hot to Miss Betty Dickson, Cook road, who returned this week from Asyut, Egypt, where summer temperatures average 110 degrees. Miss Dickson can remember one day when the temperature hit 119 degrees, but that was an exception.

Miss Dickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dickson, arrived home Tuesday after serving three years as a nurse in the United Presbyterian church at Asyut, Egypt.

She will be honored at a "home coming" service at the First United Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Miss Dickson will bring greetings from Egypt and Miss Betty Drushel will give home coming greetings from the congregation.

When she left home June 5, 1946, she didn't know quite what to expect, since it was her first trip outside the United States.

However, she did not find Egypt too different from her own country. Although summer temperatures are higher, the climate is dry and the heat is not felt much more than here in the United States. The winters are cold, but the temperature seldom drops below the freezing point.

WORKED IN HOSPITAL

Miss Dickson spent her first two years in the children's ward of the 120-bed hospital, her last year in the women's ward.

So enthusiastic is she about her work, she plans to return to Egypt in the near future after taking some post - graduate nurse's training.

Miss Dickson said, "there are only two classes of people in Egypt, the very rich and the very poor. The lower classes were very appreciative of our work."

She added there is a great deal of intestinal diseases among the people from drinking the water of the Nile river. There also is a large group of lepers in Asyut who were treated at a leper clinic at the hospital twice a week. However, Miss Dickson did not work with this group.

SOUVENIR OF SERVICE—Miss Betty Dickson, Cook road, who recently returned home after serving three years as a nurse in the United Presbyterian hospital at Asyut, Egypt, holds one of the native water jars used in the hospital. The jars, made of a type of clay, keep water cold indefinitely.

Miss Dickson described Asyut as an old town of about 70,000 people, located 200 miles south of Cairo on the Nile river.

"There is an old section of the town where the hospital is located and a new section where the church college and preparatory school are," she added. All of the houses have flat tops and there are a number of mosques, Miss Dickson said.

PATIENTS WERE NATIVES

All of the patients at the hospital were native Egyptians. Most of them were fair skinned, but there were a few from darker-skinned groups.

Miss Dickson worked with three other American nurses, a Swiss nurse, and 18 native nurses. Ten of the natives were graduates, the others student nurses. The hospital staff also included an American doctor and two Egyptian doctors.

Miss Dickson took her training at Mansfield General hospital and served there before going to Egypt.

34 Injured When Bus Driver 'Nods'

BALTIMORE —(UP)—Thirty-four persons were injured Friday when the driver of a New York to Washington Greyhound bus "nodded" at the wheel and ran off the highway at Whitemarsh, eight miles north of here.

County police said the bus ran along the shoulder of the road for 125 feet, struck a concrete culvert and leaped a 20-foot stream, coming to a halt on the opposite bank.

Tris Speaker On Program At Church Father-Son Fete

The Men's club of the First Presbyterian church will hold its annual Father and Son banquet at the church at 6:30 p. m. Thursday.

The dinner will be served in the church parlors, and a program will follow in the auditorium at 8 p. m.

The program will consist of a film of the 1948 World Series, a talk by Tris Speaker of the Cleveland Indians baseball club, and a film showing the Cleveland Browns football team in action from spring training through their final game of the year.

Tickets for the banquet are available at the church office.
